

Retired Ruston Teacher Killed In Auto Crash

Mrs. Swift Dies Under Wheels Of Trailer-Truck

RUSTON, (Special) — A retired Ruston school teacher was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when a truck rolled over her head after she was thrown from her car during a heavy rain-storm on Highway 167. Two women riding in her car were hospitalized with bruises and shock.

Mrs. Lucille Spinks Swift died when the wheels of an international truck and trailer passed over her. Lincoln Parish Sheriff's Department officials who investigated the mishap said that Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Cleve Hornsby and Mrs. E. T. Cherry, all of Vienna, a small community near Ruston, were riding in the Swift car to Ruston when the car swerved off the road at 1:40 p.m.

Storm Blamed

Deputies blamed the rainstorm for the accident, revealing that Mrs. Swift, the driver of the car, had apparently lost control of the vehicle, and it swerved off onto the muddy shoulder of the road.

It came back onto the highway, and spun around, into the path of the truck, which was driven by Sgt. Roy E. Reddings of Little Rock, Arkansas, who was heading north to Arkansas after taking part in National Guard maneuvers at Ft. Polk. Another guardsmen, Sgt. T. F. Toddy, was also riding in the truck.

Reddings swerved the huge vehicle off the highway, in an effort to avoid hitting the car, but the left front of the truck and the left rear of the car collided. The impact threw Mrs. Swift out and the wheels then hit her.

Others Hospitalized

The other two women were taken to the Ruston hospital by Kilpatrick ambulance.

Funeral services for Mrs. Swift will be today at the First Baptist Church at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Lloyd Brown, pastor, officiating. Interment will be at Vienna cemetery, under direction of Kilpatrick funeral home of Ruston.

Survivors include her husband, W. M. Swift of Vienna; five sisters, Mrs. Bertha Spinks of Ruston; Mrs. Ethel S. Guyones and Mrs. Therese Davidson, Baton Rouge; Miss Arline Spinks, Franklinton, La.; Mrs. Elaine S. Hart, of Houma; one brother, R. H. Spinks, of Vidalia; six nephews, two nieces.

She was a graduate of Louisiana Tech and taught school for a number of years until her recent retirement.

Pinch Seen In Construction Of Superhighways

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — Construction of a 41,000-mile network of superhighways crisscrossing the nation has been caught in the pinch of rising costs, and diminishing income.

Results of the pinch may not show up until fiscal 1960, which starts July 1, 1959. From then until possibly 1968, or later, it's going to hurt.

The highway act of 1956 contemplated completion of the interstate system in 13 to 15 years. Officials of the Bureau of Public Roads are now talking in terms of 16 years and possibly longer. Even to complete it in 16 years will call for a mammoth burst of roadbuilding activity in the last year or so of the program.

Original estimates put the cost of the vast road-building project at 27½ billion dollars. The federal government picks up 90 percent of the tab and states pay the balance.

Rising Costs

Rising costs have knocked that estimate into a cocked hat. A new estimate now being compiled is expected to add a minimum of three billion dollars to the bill and maybe more.

To make the pinch more binding, income from the special excise taxes on gasoline, tires etc., is falling behind schedule. These highway users' taxes go into a

Flu Hits School At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 17 (AP) — Forty-six more inmates at the State Industrial School for Colored Youth were stricken today with what is believed to be Asiatic flu, bringing the total to 124.

A Zachary physician estimated 35 more may fall ill.

"Some are getting a lot better already," said Dr. Harry A. Morris. "It may be that the illness will be of one, two or three days' duration."

Visitors day tomorrow has been cancelled.

Jes' Ramblin'

The enterprising town of Tallulah is all set for its big centennial which opens Monday and continues through Friday.

A big parade will be staged there on Monday as the opener of the week's festivities, and Monday night a dance is planned in the high school gym, a thoroughly air-cooled dance setting, Jerry Lane and his orchestra will furnish the music, according to Mrs. John Carpenter, of Bakulum plantation, who is general chairman of the week's program.

The jublic for miles around Tallulah is extended a hearty welcome for it is expected the opening day and dance will set a new high record for attendance.

There will be dancing contests for teen-agers, for older persons and all will attend in the costumes of an age that is now gone. Old fashioned waltz numbers will be played. There will be prizes awarded and a night of frivolity is assured.

Not to be overlooked, the best dressed couple will win a valuable prize.

Another wonder of the world for juvenile brilliance has been disclosed by TV. He is Robert Strom of New York City, age 11, attendant of the fifth grade. He won a TV quiz and was awarded $224,000 as a result.

Robert's mother states that he realizes that he is a child in an adult world but where few adults possess his high IQ. As a result he has respect for authority of teacher and parents and is generally a well-balanced young man. Wonder how come some with such marvelous IQ!

The army is reported to have sent and received the first letter ever carried by rocket. Army officials declared that they could not confirm nor deny this report.

The mail carrying rocket was said to have taken off from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida a few days ago, ascended to an altitude of several hundred miles and landed in the ocean about 1200 miles off at sea.

A small cylinder holding the letter was reported to have been

LARGE SCALE

Country Faces Probable Epidemic Of Asiatic Flu

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — The United States is getting set to fight a probable large-scale epidemic of Asiatic flu this fall or winter.

The malady is a new variety of centuries-old influenza, a disease once attributed by astrologers to the evil influence of unhappy conjunctions of stars. Influenza gets its name from the Italian word for influence.

The Public Health Service has taken the lead in marshaling overall national defenses — including aiding in the development of a new but limited-supply vaccine.

Urging Planning

The service is also urging states and local communities to make specific plans to defend against any major attack by the wily virus invader from the Orient.

The disease has now occurred in nearly every country of the world, at least in outbreak form. It sickened millions for short periods in the Far East, Middle

Order Speech Restrained In Island Nation

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Aug. 17 (UP) — President Sukarno blamed "Chatterbox Democracy" for Indonesia's troubles today, and called for restraint on free thought and free speech to prevent chaos.

In an hour-and-a-half address broadcast to the nation's 82,000,000 people throughout the 3,000 island archipelago, Sukarno called for replacement of the present system with his plan of "guided democracy."

On the occasion of the 12th anniversary of Indonesia's declaration of independence from Dutch rule, he said the change must be made now. He called on the people to join his "new life movement," and urged a "mental revolution" to make good the promises of their political revolution.

Reviewed Woes

The 56-year-old national leader, sometimes called the George Washington of Indonesia, frankly reviewed the political and economic woes that have befallen this island republic in the past 12 years. To cure them, he said, there must be drastic changes.

"The political system we have applied up to now does not give happiness to the great body of our people," he said. "We must revise that system."

"It is obvious that we have neither become stronger nor more secure under the system we have called democracy. We have even become more smashed up, more cracked up, more divided. We have come into a poorer state."

This was a reference to the defiance of the Java-based central government by outlying regions seeking increased autonomy and a greater share of the national income.

Resistance To Plan

Much of this opposition has come not only because of resentment against the central government's handling of foreign exchange earned by exports from Indonesian areas beyond Java, but because of resistance to Sukarno's "guided democracy."

The plan was advanced by Sukarno last Feb. 21. It called for abolishment of Western-style democratic rule by political party coalition and establishment of a cabinet with representation from all parties, including the Communists. It also provided that a national council, headed by the president and representing all elements of Indonesian society, including Communists, be set up to advise the cabinet. Hence, the term "guided democracy."

Boy Held In Shooting Of His Father

NATCHITOCHES, La., Aug. 17 (AP) — An 18-year-old boy was held in Natchitoches Parish jail today in the fatal shooting of his father after a family argument.

Dr. W. H. Pierson, parish coroner, said Billy Cardino admitted firing two .38 caliber pistol shots into his father, 49-year-old Cleveland A. Cardino, at their Bayou Natchez home near here last night.

Dr. Pierson said Mr. and Mrs. Cardino argued throughout the day yesterday until Billy and his mother left the home. Then the youth returned to the house and fired twice when his father apparently attempted to get a gun from his gun rack, the coroner said.

Billy called Natchitoches police and reported the shooting, Dr. Pierson said.

DENVER, Aug. 17 (AP) — Mrs. Mary Propes of Lake Charles, La., was elected today chairman of the Business and Professionals Women's Clubs, Inc., South Central region.

More than 1,000 delegates are attending the meeting.

Victory Seen For Demos In Rights Fight

Believe Amended Measure To Pass In House Voting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) — Democratic leaders figured today they finally had corralled enough votes to shove the Senate's amended civil rights bill through the House and to passage.

But they conceded it could be the end of next week—or even later—before they can force a showdown. They originally had hoped this could come in the House next Wednesday.

Meantime Republicans, with fresh backing from President Eisenhower, fought to reform their wavering ranks in opposition to passage of what they called a weakened version of the bill.

Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said after a White House conference that the GOP will continue to insist that the bill's right-to-vote provisions be strengthened.

Tragedy For Negroes

Martin said passage of the bill in the form proposed by the Democrats would be a "tragedy" for the millions of Negroes who, he said, have waited 90 years for legislation assuring their right to the ballot.

"I want to make it crystal clear," said Martin, "that there is no weakening in our position. We want a bill that will adequately protect the voting rights of every American."

The bill's Democratic managers who so far have not been in a hurry to reach a test, now believe the House is ready to approve, with one amendment acceptable to the Senate, Senate amendments to the bill as it originally was passed by the House.

End Of Next Week

However, barring an unexpected change of heart on the part of a southern Democrat who heads the powerful House Rules Committee, they don't see how they can set the issue up for a House vote before the end of the week.

The rules chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), an ardent opponent of civil rights legislation in any form and a wily parliamentarian not easily outmaneuvered, Smith's 12-man committee must recommend in advance the procedure to be followed in a House vote on the issue.

Smith so far has declined to call the committee into session. Sources familiar with his thinking said he is not likely to change his mind although powerful appeals are likely to be made.

Four Children To Get 'Last Kiss' From Ill Father

OXFORD, Miss., Aug. 17 (UP) — Four children will receive what might be their last goodbye kisses from their 33-year-old father Sunday.

J. T. Westmoreland will bid farewell to his youngsters and board a plane for Germany where his only hope for survival lies.

Westmoreland is a victim of lateral atrophic sclerosis, a disease considered incurable, and has been told by doctors he has a maximum of eight months to live.

However, the reported accomplishments of a Russian physician in Germany and the generosity of hundreds of friends and strangers give Westmoreland one last glimmer of hope.

Fund Set Up

A "Westmoreland Fund" was organized by his friends following a newspaper story which told of Westmoreland's hearing of the doctor's treating the dread disease which brought death to baseball's immortal Lou Gehrig.

Westmoreland, a former Corinth, Miss. accountant, scoutmaster and active civic club worker, exhausted all his funds in getting medical treatments and in supporting his six-member family after the crippling effects of the ailment forced him to leave his job.

Roy Black of Nettleton, Miss., appointed chairman of the fund, said a total of $9,700 had been

A 50-year-old Delhi man sighted a snake yesterday afternoon and fired at it, but instead of getting the snake, he wounded himself.

Boy, 16, Admits He Accidentally Shot Youth Here

A 16-year-old youth has admitted the accidental shooting of Donald King, 18, who was wounded while he sat in his parked car, talking to two other teenagers.

One of those sitting with him fired the .38 pistol, in front of the Kitchentown on South Second street shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

The youth admitted the shooting to Monroe police yesterday, and is now awaiting juvenile court action.

Held For Burglary

The third boy in the car, Ray Youngblood, 17, of 2710 Lee avenue, is in the Ouachita parish jail, charged with burglary.

Youngblood took the .38 out of a car belonging to J.P. Hardy, owner of the Little Club on the Winnsboro road, while it was parked in front of the club Wednesday night.

Chief Of Police James C. Kelly, Jr., said that police had found a tear in the plastic seat covers of the King car, and the place in the front seat where the bullet had entered, then bounced back out, plunging into King.

The plastic had automatically sealed partway back together, and the tear was not noticed until hours after the shooting.

Th youths had told of standing by the car talking, when King was hit by the bullet. He is now recuperating from the wound in his leg, at Conway Memorial Hospital.

'Routine Flight' With Ripped Tire

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17 (AP) — A four-engined passenger plane with 61 people aboard landed safely here today with one of its giant tires in ribbons from a blow-out that occurred as it left Idlewild Airport, New York.

The United Air Lines DC7 came down smoothly into a brisk wind at San Francisco International Airport on a runway lined with eight fire trucks which had been ready for hours. A large crowd had gathered to watch the drama.

The pilot, Capt. Clyde Parlette, 53, of San Carlos, Calif., brought his big craft quickly to a halt. He turned it around and taxied back to the airport with a triumphal escort of three firetrucks, police cars and a busload of newsmen.

"It was just a routine flight," said Parlette, a veteran of 20 years with UAL and 20,000 hours of flight time. "That's why we have two tires and two tubes on each side."

Signs Of Strain

But he showed signs of strain and wore a stubble of beard which he hadn't bothered to shave off before landing.

He said he told the passengers about the blown-out tire when the plane was over Sacramento, about 70 miles away. He said he had felt the tire was out of line on the takeoff and had noticed a vibration while retracting the landing gear.

After delivering his 56 passengers and four other crewmen safely, Parlette seemed surprised that airport officials had "made such a show" of the landing.

When a reporter told him his wife had said she was not coming to the field to see the landing because she didn't want to drive

Baby Boy Without Country Is Problem For His Folks

PARIS, Aug. 17 (AP) — A U. S. Air Force sergeant, who says his family traces its American history back to 1725, angrily insisted today that his four-months-old son, a baby without a country, has the right to be an American citizen by birth.

But William J. D. Lewis, 25, and his 23-year-old English wife said they didn't know where they could turn for help. Their son already has been denied citizenship by three nations.

Born In France

The baby, Anthony J. D. Lewis, was born in France. When Lewis took him to the American Embassy in Paris to have his son registered, he was told the baby could not be an American citizen because Lewis had not lived 10 years in the United States.

Under U. S. citizenship laws, an American who has married an alien must have lived in the U. S. that length of time before the

Red Network Revealed By Counter-Spy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) — Retired counter-spy Boris Morros has named Martha Dodd Stern, her husband, a secretary in the U. S. embassy in Prague and a U. S. intelligence agent in Germany as Soviet spies, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Stern is the daughter of former American ambassador to Germany.

In other sensational testimony before congressional investigators, Morros said:

Other Testimony

—Moscow officials once boasted they had established 55 business firms in the United States to serve as covers for espionage.

—His orders from the Soviet spy ring included planting an agent in the office of Francis Cardinal Spellman, Catholic prelate of New York, and getting "compromising information" on President Eisenhower, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and other prominent Americans.

—A chairman of the former four-power allied control commission in Vienna, a Soviet ambassador to Switzerland, and a secretary in the Soviet embassy in Washington were his superiors at various times during 12 years of cloak and dagger work as a U. S. government agent posing to the Russians as a capitalist-hating Soviet spy.

Morros named Mrs. Marjita Dodd Stern as the "prominent American woman" whom he earlier had mentioned as a member of the Soviet spy ring in this country.

Her husband, Alfred Stern, also was in the ring, Morros said. The couple recently slipped out

Swartz Resident Is Charged With Murder Attempt

Homer M. Hare, 59-year-old Swartz resident, was in the Ouachita parish jail last night, charged with attempted murder in the shooting of a Butte, Mont., man at Hare's residence in Swartz, Sheriff Bailey Grant reported.

Newton C. Hayas, 50, was in Conway Memorial Hospital with shotgun wounds in the back and left arm. His condition was not known, but it was reported that two No. 5 shot penetrated his lower back, and one went through his left lower forearm.

The sheriff reported that the two men were at 304 Third Street at a Monroe rooming house, where Hayas, a painter, has been staying for four days, and left about 1 p. m. to go to Hare's residence.

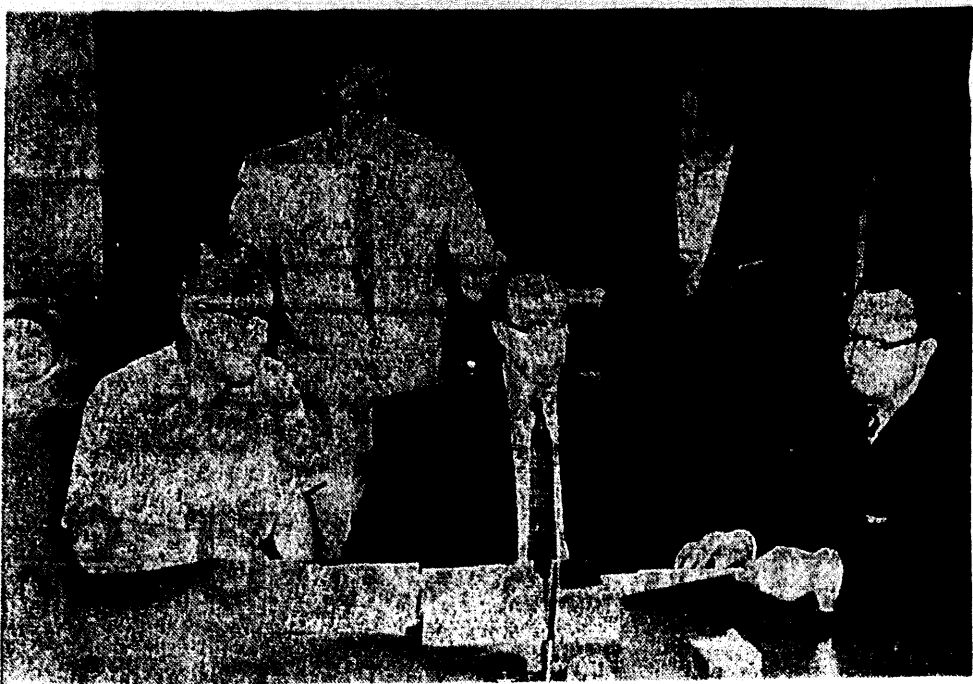

Highly Intoxicated

He said both were highly intoxicated, and that an argument developed, which Hayas apparently won. Shortly afterward, Hare shot him in the back with a double-barreled .12 gauge shotgun.

The shooting occurred about 6:20 p. m. Deputies were called to the scene by an unidentified person who reported that there was a disturbance at the Hare residence.

It is reported that Hayas lost a lot of blood, but that he was not in a state of shock.

IN BASTROP

Cotton Festival Program Planned

BASTROP (Special) — A complete program of activities for the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Morehouse Parish Fair has been drawn up and will be officially approved at an early meeting of the board of directors, it was announced today by L. L. Lapeyrouse, president.

Listed on the program is everything from a cotton picking contest to the famed Bastrop horse show, with the usual "queen" contest and "prince and princess" contests sharing the spotlight with other top events.

Although the official show dates are Sept. 17-21, a pre-festival event will be the rehearsal for the prince and princess contest on September 16.

On September 18, the Negro population will have its annual "day," with a special program of activities, including a parade, "queen" contest and dance.

The big festival parade will be held on Sept. 19 and again this year Herman G. Sasser is chairman of the committee.

Warren White of Mer Rouge heads the committee for arranging for the cotton picking contest, with the winner likely to go to Blytheville for the national championships.

Although nothing definite has been set up as yet, the board of directors are making efforts to secure an outstanding western star as a special attraction. An announcement on this is expected within the next week or ten days.

Reports coming in from committee chairmen indicate that all phases of the festival are rounding into showtime shape. This year, an intensive publicity campaign is being planned.

FOR FALL SEMESTER

Northeast Registration Will Begin September 11

Registration for the fall semester at Northeast State will open September 11 and close September 14, with regular class work beginning September 16.

Freshmen are scheduled to register on September 11, 12, and 13. Upperclassmen will enroll September 12-13.

Registration for special Saturday morning and late afternoon courses is set from 8 to 11 a.m. on September 14.

The orientation program designed for freshmen will be announced at an early date, according to Bob Joe Oden, director of student activities.

Students who did not attend northeast during the regular school year of 1956-57 or during the summer term of the current year are requested to have certificates of eligibility. If they are entering college here for the first time or are transfer students, they also should have their high school transcripts and those from other colleges which they have attended.

Veterans who plan to attend on the G. I. or Korean Bill should clear through their local Veterans Administration offices in order to facilitate registration.

New and transfer students are asked to begin enrollment procedure in the office of the director of admissions in the Administration Building. All others will start registration in the Library Building.

Housing accommodations on the campus are available for both men and women. The more recently completed brick dormitory for women will be used this fall in addition to the adjacent building which has housed students for several terms.

Room reservations for residence on the campus indicate a large increase over last year of persons who prefer to remain at Northeast instead of commuting.

The college cafeteria and facilities have been expanded to answer the needs of students residing on the campus.

GOT MILLIONS

Ellender Tells How He Helped His Home State

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), a champion of economy on projects far removed from Louisiana, recited proudly tonight how he helped get millions for his home state.

The peppery little Louisiana senator, who often speaks with horror of big appropriations for foreign aid, Senate investigating committees and fancy office suites, gave himself a pat on the back in a report to constituents.

Ellender ticked off item after item for Louisiana in the public works bill on which Congress concluded action recently.

That bill, he said in a speech recorded for delivery over Louisiana radio stations, "represents a great victory for our state."

"I am proud of the part I played in achieving that victory," he added.

There was $500,000 to begin construction of the Baton Rouge harbor, $1,000,000 for the New Orleans tidewater channel, $750,000 for Red River bank stabilization.

The last item, he noted, represents "an increase of $400,000 over the House bill."

The bill, he said, also contained $200,000 for a walnut bayou project, "and—of great importance to southwestern Louisiana—$500,000 to begin work on McGee Bend Dam."

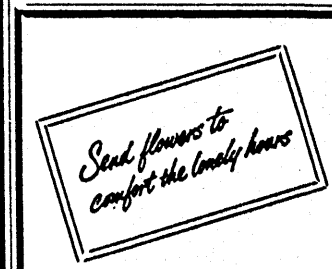

"I was able to prevail upon the House conferees to accept Senate language authorizing a four-lane highway bridge over the Indian Village route of the intracoastal canal in the vicinity of Port Allen, as opposed to the two-lane bridge presently authorized," he continued.

Resident State Trooper Slated At Sterlington

Louisiana state police have assigned Trooper W. L. Smith to be Resident State Trooper for Sterlington, Lawrence Gibbs, Ouachita parish representative reported yesterday.

Smith, who lives on the old Sterlington Road, will move into Sterlington as soon as he can find a home there, Gibbs said. He begins his assignment Monday, however.

The Ouachita parish solon has been working for about a year—since a fatal highway accident at Sterlington—to get a resident trooper for the community. Supt. John Nick Brown, head of the Louisiana state police, issued the request for the assignment.

Quietly, delicately, surely, their beauty lifts the sorrowing heart. They provide a comfort that is singularly personal.

Legion Meeting Slated Monday

Milton W. Ford, newly installed commander of the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion, said yesterday that the regular semi-monthly meeting will be held on Monday, August 19, at the home on Forsythe Avenue at 8:00 p. m.

All Legionnaires who have participated in the department convention are urged to be present by Ford. A final report will be presented.

Ford stated, "This is the beginning of the new Legion year, and we must make plans for membership, Junior Legion baseball Americanism, and child welfare programs, with chairmen being chosen at this time."

The local post has 546 members at the present time, making it the largest organization in the Twin Cities of this type. The members of the Faulk post each year point out to all veterans, honorably discharged, are eligible to belong to the group.

Ford listed as the post's most outstanding accomplishments the holding of the largest Monroe convention, with 1,100 state Legionnaires attending, and the Junior Legion team's winning of the state title.

He said the post hopes to add 100 new Legionnaires before the membership drive ends Nov. 11. Ford requested that all officers be present for the plan-making meeting.

Blame Death On Wasp Sting

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. Aug. 17 (AP)—Wasp stings have been blamed for one death and three critical illnesses in this Mississippi River area in the past month.

The latest victim was Frank Stoffregen, 45. He was stung on the shoulder Thursday while helping to vaccinate hogs at Delta, Mo. Noticing that his lips and other parts of his body were becoming numb, he started for help, walked 50 feet and collapsed.

Barbary sheep, imported from North Africa, are now a game animal in New Mexico's high plateau country.

Voters Growing More And More Reluctant On Taxes

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Writer

The young man in Bermuda shorts and sports shirt and his slacks-clad wife walked slowly out of the high school auditorium, where the school district election was being held.

Heading for their yellow 1957 station wagon, they met another couple, neighbors in their suburban development, on their way to vote.

"We voted against it," said the man in shorts, almost with embarrassment. "This is the second time they've asked for more money for the new high school. It probably doesn't make much sense to refuse them money to finish a half-built school. But we've finally decided we're voting against it from now on."

Don't Need
"My kids don't need a gymnasium big enough for a Roman chariot race, and I just can't see sinking thousands of dollars into school landscaping and fine lawns—better than we can afford around our own house."

A few hours later, when the vote was counted, the school board learned with some surprise that its request for an extra $225,000 had been turned down by a healthy majority. Six weeks later, the voters returned to the polls and approved a supplementary appropriation—severely pruned to $160,000.

This is no isolated incident of weary taxpayers striking down proposed spending for public improvements. From New York to California, taxpayers are telling local governments at the polls how they feel.

Sensitive
And sensitive public officials are watching these scattered storm centers, wondering if they presage a big economy blow. True, most bond issues still are passing. But the percentage turned down seems to be rising steadily in some areas.

This spring, for instance, residents of half a dozen neighboring communities in New York City's dormitory, Long Island, turned out at the polls to vote down resoundingly all except one of a handful of spending proposals.

Into the discard, at least temporarily, went glowing plans for a half-million-dollar swimming pool for one community of small homes. In other similar localities voters vetoed library and recreation budgets, refused funds to acquire another school site, decided against extending school bus service.

Ballot
A few days earlier residents of a number of Detroit suburbs rejected by ballot a $204,000 swimming pool, a $106,000 library, a $190,000 community center, a new police station. And a whole township indicated it preferred existing potholes in its roads to a tax increase for repairs.

Plans for needed school expansion took a general globbering from California voters this year. "With 36 per cent of income going for taxes the voter is in no mood to approve bond issues," said Sheffield J. Arnold, general manager of the California Taxpayers Assn. "He strikes back wherever he can. Witness the spontaneous reaction against proposed bond issues here in southern California. No, this definitely isn't a product of organized taxpayer groups."

A Springfield, Mo., city councilman felt much the same way after voters in his city turned down—for the second time in a year—a $645,000 bond issue to improve police and fire facilities.

"It was a nameless sort of thing, a sort of sullen resentment against government in general," said Stanley Roush. "Over-all, taxes have become such a burden that people seem to want to strike out any way they can to stop them."

Organized
Regularly organized taxpayer groups, who year in, year out complain and propagandize against climbing government spending at all levels can't take much credit for the turn of events. They sense a general stiffening of attitudes in villages, towns and special school and sewer districts.

There are, unfortunately, no accurately what is going on at this grass root level which consists of more than 100,000 units of local government.

Nor is there any central clearing house of information. But politicians are very conscious of the demand for belt-tightening and hole-plugging in public expenditures.

Not only are voters expressing themselves by ballot, but they are turning out for public hearings involving taxes.

In the old days," said a Wyoming official, "we could have held budget meetings in a telephone booth. Today we have to crowd into a hall."

Voters
And voters today are sternly demanding everything from cheese-paring to total abandonment of projects.

One upstate New York community, upset about several small budget items, defeated a $4-million-dollar school budget. Then, when the school board knocked out a mere $13,000, they went back to the polls and voted the appropriation through.

In another, voters passed a $100,000 salary increase for teachers—and resoundingly defeated a $26,000 proposal for "psychological services."

Still another school district approved a $1,700,000 elementary school and vetoed a $3,800,000 junior high. They needed the high school but not an expensive, campus-type building, said the successful opposition.

Addresses
New York State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, addressing the Municipal Finance Officers Assn. of the U.S. and Canada in St. Paul recently, said flatly that the entire country is experiencing a "quiet but effective taxpayer revolt" against the continued rise in local taxes.

Since January, he said, New York voters alone have defeated more than 35 per cent of school bond issues presented to them. Last year, less than 10 per cent were turned down.

Voters' wrath has not been loosed solely on school projects, but they have caught a lot of it because the whole nation is woefully short of classroom space.

The emphasis on schools is particularly strong in areas which have mushroomed in population since World War II. Many of these new-home owners who participated in the flight to the suburbs never though much about property and school taxes when they paid their rent money to city landlords. Today, confronted with the bill, they are suddenly and painfully aware of the bite.

Sesquicentennial In O. Ridge Ends

OAK RIDGE (Special)—A week-long Sesquicentennial ended here Friday night with a pageant "Blow Ye the Trumpet," attended by more than 500.

The six-episode pageant depicted the history of Methodism in Prairie Jefferson, the original name of Oak Ridge from 1807 to present day. A large cast presented the performance.

The celebration consisted of historical tours, church services, a picnic attended by about 400 Wednesday night. More than 1,500 attended different functions.

Thompson New Member Of FHA

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special)—C. B. Thompson, Jr., of Transylvania, is the new member of the farmers home administration committee, according to Joseph LeBeau, Jr., parish supervisor. Thompson succeeds Herman Johnson, who has served a three-year term.

The new committeeman operates a cotton, corn and soya bean farm at Transylvania. The other two committeemen with unexpired terms are: Sedric L. Wilson and Harvey H. Howington, Jr., both of Lake Providence.

Committee members serve staggered three-year terms, with the term of office beginning July 1st. A member completing his term cannot succeed himself and, at least two of the members must be farmers.

The county committee determines the eligibility of local farmers who apply for farmers home administration loans. They also certify the value of farms being purchased or improved with loans from the FHA and assist in adapting the loan program to local conditions.

Facts Or Legend --- No One Will Ever Stop Telling Of The Earps, Holliday

By JOE LEWIS
TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Aug. 17 (AP)—If you ask hereabouts what happened to Wyatt Earp's tombstone, the silence is as deafening as it is in famed old Boothill Cemetery.

It may be logical for some folks to assume that the granite marker, stolen recently from a cemetery at Colma, Calif., just south of San Francisco, was destined for Tombstone.

But you won't get anyone around here to admit as much. In fact, says editor Clayton Smith of the Tombstone Epitaph:

"Earp's ghost probably would clobber anybody who tried to return him or his marker to Tombstone."

Adds Smith, who is balding, untanned and does not wear Western clothes: "Why should he want to return here? He was a bitter man when he left."

One killed
"One of his brothers had been killed and another bushwhacked. Earp himself had been indicted for murder, of the man accused of killing his brother."

Mayor Sid Wilson, who recently returned from a Lions Club convention in San Francisco, laughs off the idea anyone would bring the Earp marker here.

A search of Boothill Cemetery, where many a gunman was taken after being a mite slow on the draw, reveals no sign of the missing marker.

The Epitaph notes that Tombstone Restoration, Inc., a citizens group seeking to preserve this famous frontier town's relics, recently dropped plans to transfer Earp's remains to the town where his gun once was the only law.

Since the 1880s the weekly Epitaph has been telling the story of Tombstone. In those days the population was nearly 10,000—compared with today's 1,800—the boast was first heard that the town was "too tough to die."

Earp was a deputy U.S. marshal and it took a hard man to keep the peace when droves of miners, cowboys and gunmen—thirsty for booze and blondes—came to town for some fun. Everyone agrees Earp was a hard man.

Near Boothill Cemetery's entrance stands Tombstone's most famous relic: a large stone monument over the graves of Tom and Frank McLowery and Billy Clanton. They were shot down in the famed gunfight at the OK Corral Oct. 26, 1881, by Earp, his brothers Morgan and Virgil and the gun-toting dentist Doc Holliday.

To this day, descendants of the McLowerys and Clanton claim their forebears were ambushed and killed because they knew too much of Earp's allegedly illegal activities.

But, says editor Smith, who has the only authentic newspaper files of the day, "if there was a bad egg on Earp's side, it was Doc Holliday. He came from a good Southern family, but all he ever did was drink and look for fights. By the way, he never practiced dentistry in Tombstone."

"Sure, Earp hung around with Holliday, because Holliday knew everybody in the red-light district and had information that Earp needed."

But Smith sadly admits no one will ever be sure of the rights or wrongs of the famed gunfight. And if you ask each of Tombstone's residents, you'll probably get 1,800 different versions.

Tombstones
Even Boothill's tombstones stir the flames of controversy. When former President Truman announced his retirement in April 1952, he referred to an epitaph he said was on a Boothill grave: "Here lies Jack Williams. He done his damndest."

Mayor Wally Foster promptly denied there was such a headboard in Boothill. Truman countered with a charge of publicity seeking.

The battle raged. The "anti-Truman" group was accused of tearing down the original Jack Williams headstone to embarrass the President. The "pro-Truman" faction was alleged to have erected a bogus marker, which was torn down in the subsequent furor. The argument never was settled. And apparently no one ever bothered to find out just what Jack Williams did his "damndest" about.

Delight
But, to the delight of tourists, the cemetery does abound in some noncontroversially colorful epitaphs, including:

"Marguerita. Stabbed in the Gold Dollar."

"George Johnson. Hanged by mistake."

"Here lies Lester Moore. Four slugs from a .44. No les. No me."

Several headstones bear the notation: "Hanged legally." In those days, a "legal hanging" was a sign of civic stability.

The cemetery itself is a cause for skepticism. Oldtimers grumble about commercialism and the donation box near the turnstile entrance. Some folks wonder how all the gunmen who supposedly died in Tombstone could have fitted in to Boothill's small confines—not to mention the respectable citizenry.

Boothill, incidentally, got its name from a frontier superstition: no self-respecting gunslinger wanted to meet his maker with his dusty, old boots on; if he was shot down, he or his friends would make a frantic effort to pull off the boots before he died. Sometimes, the efforts were a bit late; hence, the name Boothill.

Most Easterners, say Smith, think death with boots on was an honor, but actually it was a disgrace because it indicated the deceased was outdrawn.

The cemetery is only a short walk from Tombstone's downtown section. Here, on historic Allen Street, a pizza restaurant offers its wares to the tourist, and no one's sense of historical authenticity is outraged.

The old buildings evoke memories of the days when the Bird Cage Theater, the Crystal Palace Saloon and A. Cohn's Cigar Store flourished. In fact, all except the cigar store are still doing business—nestled alongside a bustling grocery, a laundry and modern store.

Just a few yards from the pizzeria, gunman Roger King shot and killed Johnny Wilson — to prove the straight draw was faster than the cross draw.

There Buckskin Frank Leslie once stood his wife against a wall and used a .45 to shoot a silhouette around her.

And in a nearby bar, Johnny Ringo shot down Louis Hancro after an argument over the merits of beer and whisky.

Not far away is the spot where outraged citizens hanged John Heath from a telegraph pole for his part in a Bisbee robbery in which five innocent citizens died. After the lynching, a coroner's jury ruled Heath died of "emphysema of the lungs—a disease common in high altitude—which might have been caused by strangulation, self-inflicted or otherwise."

Facts or legend—no one here will ever stop telling the old tales. But, says editor Smith, who has the only authentic newspaper files of the day, "if there was a bad egg on Earp's side, it was Doc Holliday. He came from a good Southern family, but all he ever did was drink and look for fights. By the way, he never practiced dentistry in Tombstone."

"Sure, Earp hung around with Holliday, because Holliday knew everybody in the red-light district and had information that Earp needed."

CHECKS RETURNED

95 Northeast Louisiana Persons Due Tax Refund

The U. S. Treasury Department has more than $6,000 it is anxious to give 95 persons living in northeast Louisiana last year.

Of this number, 36 were residents of Monroe and West Monroe and they have more than $2,000 due them if they will just come forward to claim it.

These local people are among the 1,668 from throughout Louisiana who gave insufficient or incorrect addresses when they sent in their 1956 income tax returns to the Internal Revenue Service in New Orleans. They have refunds coming from the government and the Treasury Department wants to pay off.

Average $63.75
The refund checks returned to the New Orleans office of the Internal Revenue Service averaged approximately $63.75 each. The largest is in the amount of $1,548, which was for a corporation that the service has been unable to locate. The largest individual check is for $393.00 and the smallest is for exactly $1.00.

It was pointed out that last year the New Orleans office had something like 1,500 refund checks returned for lack of sufficient address, throughout the state, but after the list of names on the refunded checks were published in the newspapers, the total was reduced to 300.

Donald L. Bonnet, chief of the personnel and training branch of the Internal Revenue Service in New Orleans, called attention to the fact not all refund checks have been mailed. He explained that it is not necessary for the taxpayer to solicit the aid of any service company in obtaining refund checks.

A letter will be sufficient. It should be addressed to: "District Director, Internal Revenue Department, U. S. Treasury Department, 600 South Street, New Orleans, La."

Forum To Benefit Aged Scheduled Here Monday

By DANNY BINGHAM

Staff Writer

The rapidly growing movement to break down prejudice against hiring older persons will be given a boost here Monday when the Louisiana Commission on the Aging holds a forum at the Ouachita Parish Court House.

The meeting has been planned with the cooperation of the Division of Employment Security in the State Department of Labor and the Division of Adult Education in the State Department of Education.

The session for white people is scheduled for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and there will be a similar meeting for Negroes at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Principal consultants for the sessions will be Grover S. Brown of the Department of Labor, and A. Larriviere of the Department of Education. To be present assisting with the program will be Mrs. Frank Odom, from Baton Rouge, Judge Albert Tate, Jr., of Ville Platte, and A. A. Fredericks of Natchitoches, commission members; and Grover Brown with the State Employment Service.

J. W. Bateman, executive secretary of the Commission on the Aging, will be in charge of the conferences which are being sponsored by the Louisiana Association of Social Workers.

Bateman has pointed out that approximately 400 persons over 45 years of age are registered with the Monroe office of the Division of Employment, and the placing of these persons in jobs has been difficult in the past.

Other Reasons
"It seems that many employers have a prejudice against hiring aging persons, frequently for reasons other than age," Bateman said. One of these reasons, he explained, is the fact that it often would disrupt the retirement system of the employing firm. Another is that in so many jobs, special and costly training is necessary.

But, the problem of keeping the aging person occupied, both industrially and mentally, has become one of the nation's greatest problems.

"In our modern industrial society, the proportion of aged persons in the population has been rising for many generations," Bateman said. "The doctors won't let us die, and therefore, the span of life has been steadily lengthening. In little more than half a century, the life span of man has been increased by 22 years to past the 65 year mark."

More Each Year
There are 14 million Americans 65 years of age and over, and the figure is growing appreciably each year, statistics show.

Rapid industrial growth, changing the nation from a rural, agricultural economy to an industrial economy has played a major role in the aged person's picture. "Many men and women are forced into retirement at the age of 65 when they have by no means expended their usefulness," Bateman pointed out. "One day a man is working in a good job and enjoying life to the fullest extent. The next day, he is under retirement, with nothing to occupy his time and mind, and too, with an income considerably decreased."

Between 200 and 300 persons are expected to attend the two sessions here Monday.

The greater percentage of these people want to continue working and are capable of great production for many more years, studies have shown, Bateman said. A bright spot in the condition is that more and more people are becoming interested in older people and great strides are being made in their continued employment, Bateman said.

Between 200 and 300 persons are expected to attend the two sessions here Monday.

THE RUSSIAN ORLOFF
By Alton Howard

The early origin of this exquisite jewel is shrouded in mystery. The legend of the Orloff began when it served as the eye of an Indian idol.

Near Trichinopoly in Mysore, a native state in India, there is in the river Cauvery an island called Sriangen. In this island stood a Hindu temple enclosed within seven walls and within the innermost shrine stood the idol of a god. Its eyes were two great gems—one of these the Orloff.

A French genodier, a desertor, lived near the temple and having learned of this great treasure devoted many years of his life to gaining possession of it. After embracing the Hindu faith, he obtained employment within the walls and after many years of careful planning was finally admitted into the idol as a devoted Hindu. The moment for which he had waited came. A stormy night. He pried one of the gems loose, scaled the walls, and swam the river. He escaped and sold the gem for $10,000. The purchaser in turn sold it for $60,000. The diamond was finally sold to Prince Orloff for 400,000 rubles. He gave it to his love, Catherine the Great, Empress of the Russians.

On your next visit to Russia you may see the gem in the diamond treasure in Moscow. A lasting gift indeed.

While speaking of lasting gifts, really what could be more lasting than one of our fine diamonds. A gift that would be treasured for a life time and a token of your love even to generations yet to come. A diamond is truly forever.

We invite you to visit our store where we take pride in our selection of quality gems. Howard Bros. Jewelers, 116 DeSiard, Monroe, La.

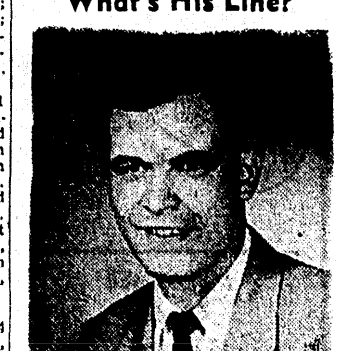

ADVICE FOR PARENTS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Don't tell white lies to your children when they must have an operation, a University of Michigan pediatrician advises.

Dr. James L. Wilson, chairman of the pediatrics department at University Hospital here, says parents should "explain the reasons for their going to the hospital in a simple way they can understand."

And, he adds, "parents should get it clear in their own minds as to exactly why the operation is necessary before trying to explain it to the child."

DESPITE THE DIFFICULTIES

Life Normal For U. S. Students In School Behind Iron Curtain

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP)—Rifle fire crackled in the distance and a big tank rumbled by, but the kindergarten tots never looked up from their playground games.

The 550 American kids at the Berlin American School don't get excited any more about the war-like sounds and sights around them. It's all part of their life in this Allied occupied city, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The students worry more about how their Little League baseball team is doing against the Army "brats" nine than about the Russian tank divisions posted around the city.

Unique Position
The American school — the only one of its kind behind the Iron Curtain — looks very much like schools in say Boston or Kansas City.

The Army built it in 1953 at a cost of more than a million dollars for the children of servicemen attached to the U. S. garrison. Also enrolled are children of American diplomats, foreign correspondents, missionaries, businessmen and a few foreigners including one Finnish girl who commutes daily from Soviet-run East Berlin. Classes range from kindergarten to high school.

Non-service families pay an annual tuition of 270 dollars.

The Berlin students look and act as American as apple pie and rock 'n' roll, although many of them have been raised in odd corners of the globe.

Th. North Central Assn. of Secondary Schools, the U. S. examining body, inspects the Berlin school every two years and has approved its curriculum for U. S. college entrance.

Michael Fay, the 36-year-old principal, from Providence, R. I., tries to give the school a normal atmosphere. He heads a staff of 19 teachers.

Fay says many of his pupils realize the significance of Berlin

OLD STUFF—The tank rumbling past the library window is such a common occurrence it doesn't rate a glance from these American School students in Berlin.

as an East-West hot spot. "But like most adults, after a while they forget what is all around them," he adds.

Manpower Problem
At the moment the big morale problem centers on how to get winning teams.

With only 55 high school students, including only four seniors, the teams have been taking a beating when they come up against the bigger Army schools in West Germany. Last season, the Berlin school lost all of its four six-man football games and 16 basketball tilts.

"It's hard for them to lose all the time," sighs Fay.

But they are not quitting — not the American kids from behind the Iron Curtain.

Tigerettes Meet Monday To Open Year's Activity

Neville's Tigerette all-girl pep squad will hold its initial meeting of the year Monday at the local high school in preparation for another season of entertainment for local football fans, and for other activities.

Squad leaders and company commanders will meet at 9 a. m., and the entire group, composed of 172 girls, will gather at 10 a. m.

Gathright Director
F. Gathright, director of the Neville band, will also direct the Tigerette march, group. He will be assisted by Mrs. V. B. Dunn and Miss Billye Ingram, co-sponsors of the Tigerettes.

Student officers include Jackie Masur, senior commander; Donna McDonald, senior alternate commander, and Kathy Talton, president.

The first week of Tigerette activity is devoted to the sale of advertising for the football program, and the second week primarily for drill work in preparation for the first show at the West Monroe - Neville football game on September 6 at Neville.

Negro Girl, 11, Gives Birth To 6-Pound Child

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An 11-year-old girl and the daughter she gave birth to are in good condition at the State Medical Center here, physicians said today.

The 6-pound, 4-ounce baby was delivered by a Caesarian operation yesterday. It was the mother's 11th birthday.

Dr. Eva Dodge, who delivered the child, said the unmarried mother has been at the center for some time under her supervision. The girl, a Negro, lives at Curtis, Ark.

Officials at the center said that the mother was believed to be the youngest in the history of Arkansas.

Hospital authorities withheld the young mother's name.

Tallahassee To Observe Its 100th Birthday With Week-Long Celebration

TALLAHASSEE (Special) — The thriving, riverside town of Tallahassee will hold a week-long birthday party August 25 through 31. Weeks of preparation will be culminated with a spectacular Centennial celebration.

A common sight downtown during the observance will be long dresses, sunbonnet costumed women and bearded, mustached gentlemen wearing derby hats and bow ties of a bygone era. A Centennial queen will be chosen at the Centennial Ball August 19 at the high school. 16 candidates will compete.

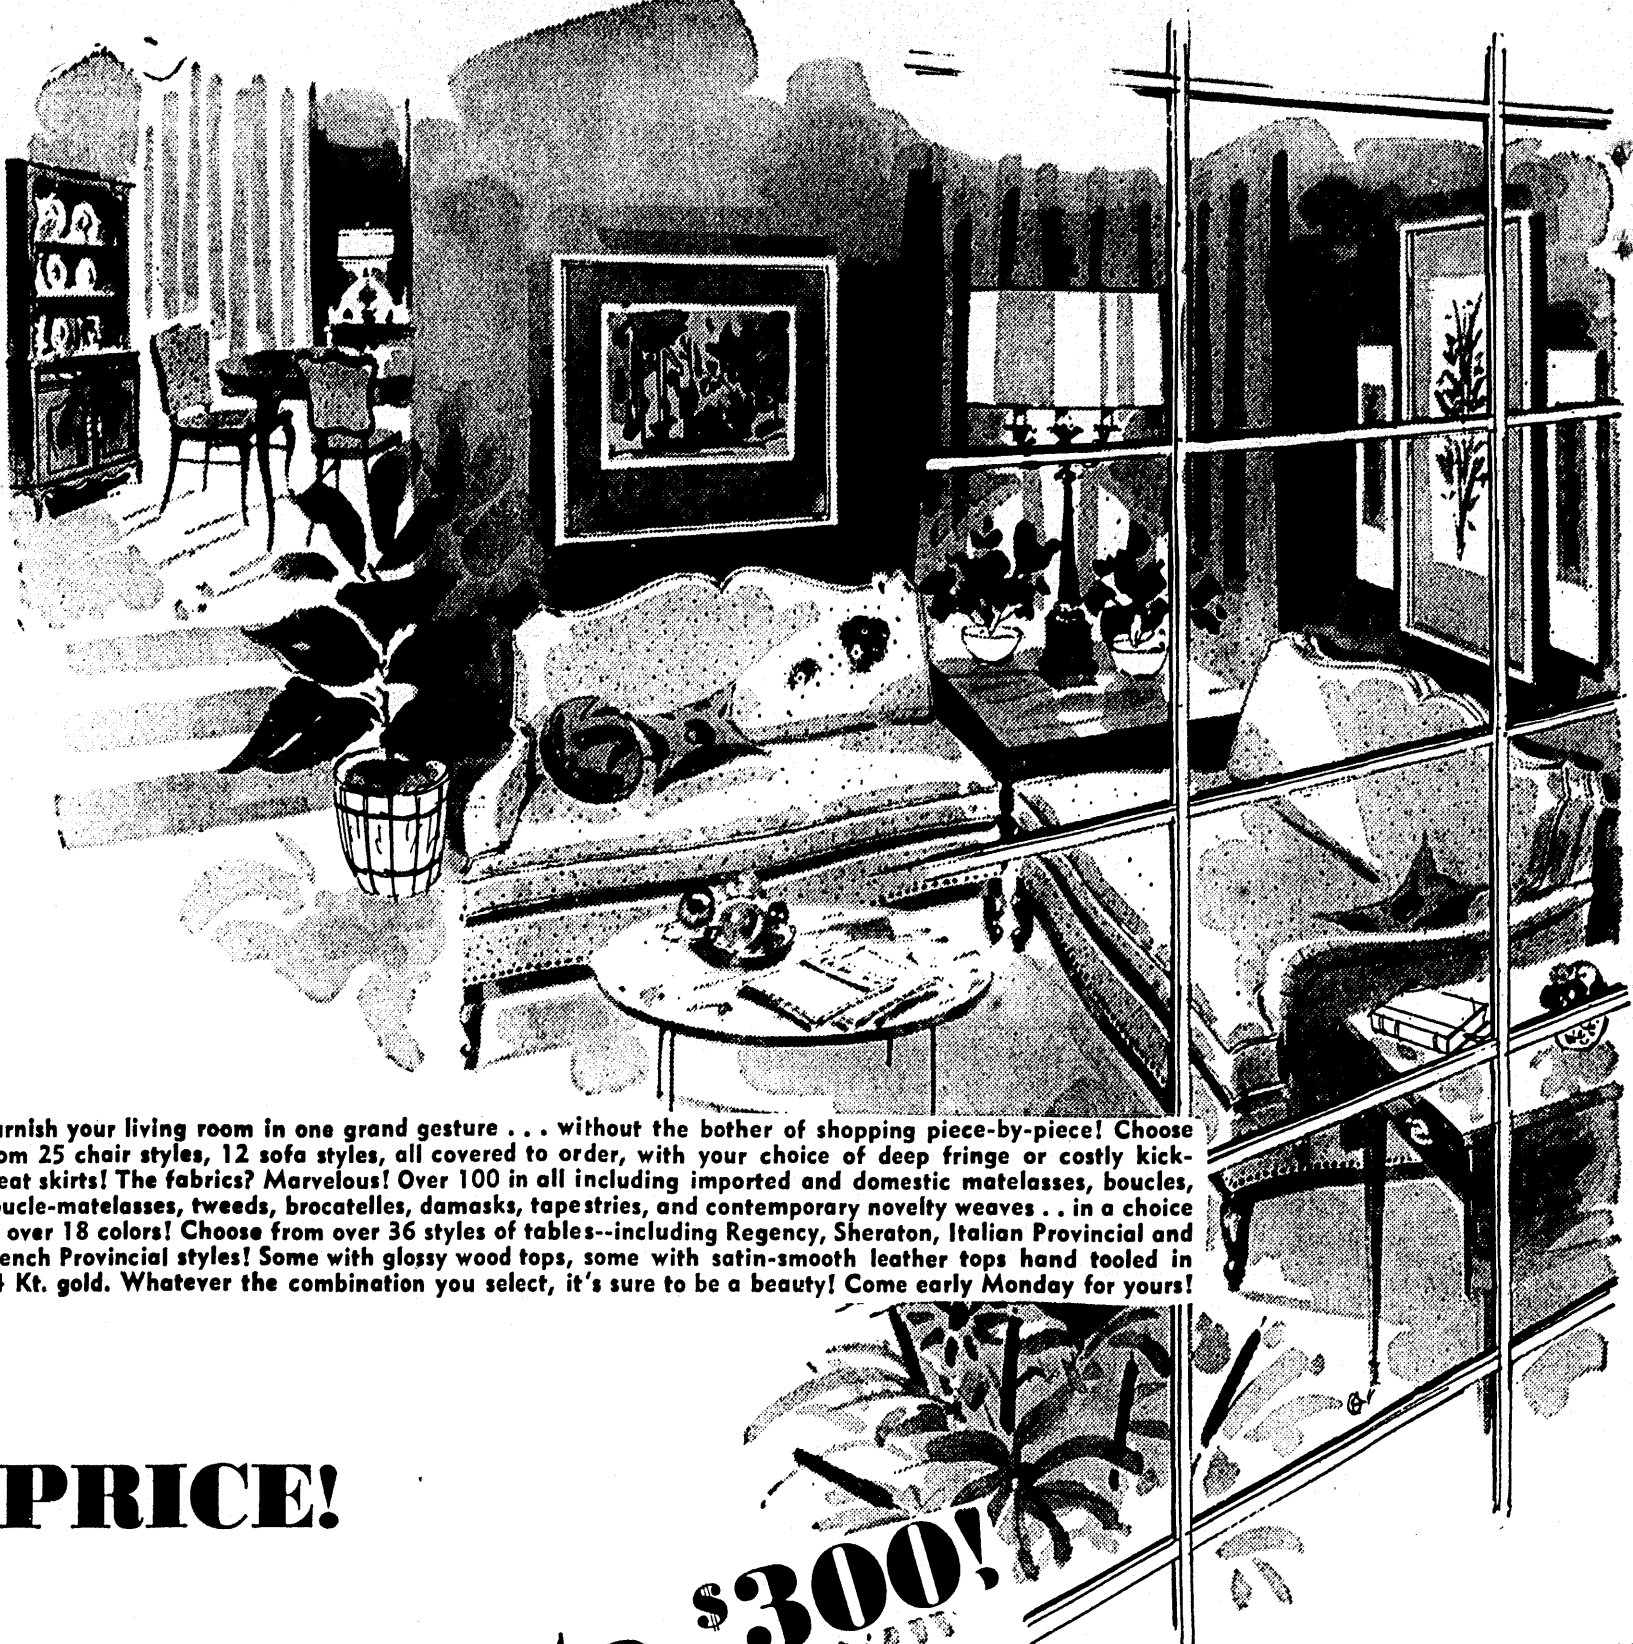

Women have organized chapters of Centennial Belles while men are also formed into groups. Failure to abide by rules of the organizations result in the offender appearing in "Kangaroo Court."

The high point of each day's planned activities will be "Delta-rama," a historical pageant which deals with different periods in the development of the town. The pageant has a cast of about 250. A religious service, "Faith of Our Fathers," will officially open the celebration Sunday, August 25, at the new school auditorium. Monday will be "Pioneer and Old Times Day," featuring a parade at 11 a. m. A band concert will be held on the court house lawn in the afternoon. The queen will be crowned Monday night at the school auditorium. Youth Day winners, pet and hobby parade and judging of colonial costumes will take place Wednesday.

A cooking school for famous old dishes, a style show featuring Civil War and dresses following that era will be events on Thursday's program.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

While high school football talent of the area begins tuning for the jamboree weekend two weeks away and the season openers of September 6, two other sporting attractions keep a strong grip on the attention of boating and baseball fans of the area—the Silver Cup boat races on the Ouachita river here next Sunday afternoon and the Monroe American Legion Junior baseball champions of the state who appear in the double-elimination national regional tournament at New Orleans with Lufkin, Tex., Little Rock, Ark., and Jackson, Miss.

J. H. "Slim" Scogin and F. N. "Sticky" Steele, chairman and co-chairman respectively of the Chamber of Commerce's sports committee, have arranged their program for the outboard motorboat races which will occupy most of next Sunday afternoon's activity on the river. The program calls for 12 races of five laps each on a one-mile measured course just south of the old DeSard street-Coleman avenue traffic bridge here. The races will be two in each class of Class A hydroplanes, Class B hydroplanes, Class C hydroplanes, Class C service runabouts, Class C service, and Class C service hydroplanes.

The races, sanctioned by the National Outboard Association which lists the events as their South Central Zone Championships, will qualify winners for the national championship races next month near Chicago. Cash awards scaled at $40-20-10-5 will be awarded the first four places in each race, and Monroe merchants and businessmen are sponsoring the individual races.

Major Jack Davis of the traffic division of the Monroe police department told the last meeting of the C. of C. sports committee that it would be advisable to close the old traffic bridge to vehicular traffic during the course of the races which begin at 1:30 p.m. and are expected to run until 5:30 or 6 p.m. Major Davis said experience has proven that automobile traffic, if permitted on the bridge, will be so congested as to create a traffic hazard as motorists creep along and try to watch some of the races at the same time.

It is also planned to restrict the public boat-launching area just south of Howard Griffin's boat docks on the Monroe side of the river to use of race participants only, and all boat operators of this area who plan to be on the river Sunday but not competing in the races are being requested to use the Pine street public launching area or some other shore facilities that may be available. The public will also be kept from the "pits" where the drivers rest and condition their machines before the races.

Spectators will be permitted on the old bridge, and a great mass of the spectators is expected to line the West Monroe side levee which will be cleaned and mowed before the races.

For safety, no boats not participating in the races will be permitted to run in the area to be zoned off for the contests. Any non-participating boats serving as spectator locations for their owners and guests will be required to tie in along the banks. "Skeeter" Morgan has already turned his boat over to race officials who will chart the course of the program from an advantageous anchorage.

Howard Griffin, long a follower of outboard racers of the south, predicts the facilities as now arranged for the racers and other conditions will be among the most favorable offered. "I'm sure the boat owners are going to be mighty pleased with out setup. They'll say it's better than they usually have," predicted Griffin.

While the boat races will be free to the public and offered on the doorstep of Monroe and West Monroe residents, the followers of the Legion Juniors will have to go to New Orleans to see what Manager Ralph Sims' wonderboys can do. The Louisiana champions weren't expected to get past their own district, but Sims has gotten teamwork, pitching, and clutch hitting from a weak-hitting team to reach the national regionals.

Lufkin's champions of Texas are the first opponent for Sims boys next Wednesday. It takes two losses to eliminate a club, and there's some feeling that these McCain-Richards-sponsored boys might just pull some more surprises to reach the level of the top-twelve in the nation, a feat accomplished only by one other Monroe team, the "Woody" Boyles outfit that brought Monroe its only previous state championships in 1953 and 1954.

Now, before we close: There will be a world's heavyweight championship fight at Seattle, Wash., next Thursday night (Pacific Standard Time). It will be Friday morning CST so don't be surprised when you open your Friday morning paper and find no fight results—unless there's a first round KO and some fast wire service. Actually the fight between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Pete Rademacher is scheduled to begin at 12 midnight CST and is billed for 15 rounds. It may be the big mis-match a lot of experts are calling it, but it could be the most astounding sports spectacle of the decade if Rademacher, Olympic champ who has never fought a pro fight, wins. Joe Louis had a lot of mis-matches during his career as the most active heavy champ. This one can't be much far off from some of those Joe had.

AIMS FOR REGIONAL

Lufkin, Like Monroe, Has Won 20 Legion Contests

The McCain v. Richards Legion Juniors of Monroe, Louisiana state champions, will go against a Lufkin, Tex., club that has had a near comparable season in wins and losses when the two clubs meet at New Orleans Wednesday along with Little Rock, Ark., and Jackson, Miss., in their national regional double elimination tournament.

Lufkin shows a season record of 20 victories against only three losses. Monroe has a 20-7 record. Except for comparable pitching, Lufkin shows a definite edge in batting with three better than .300 hitters headed by outfielder Phil Poland's .367. Poland has socked five home runs and leads his club in runs - batted - in with 22. Top batter for Monroe in the regular campaign is shortstop Francis Genusa at .295.

YANKS FOIL PILOT'S STRATEGY TO TRIP ORIOLES; BRAVES NIP CARDS IN COME-FROM-BEHIND 11TH

Aaron Breaks Up Game With Payoff Double

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 17 (UP)—Hank Aaron doubled in the 11th inning to drive in two runs that gave the first place Milwaukee Braves a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

After one out in the 11th successive singles by Frank Torre and Eddie Mathews off young Cardinal relief pitcher Billy Muffett set the stage for Aaron's game-winning shot, his first hit of the game.

The Cardinals had taken a 4-3 lead in their half of the inning when Don Blasingame led off with a double, took third on a ground out and scored on a long fly by pinch-hitter Walker Cooper.

The Cardinals scored their first three runs in the first inning off starter Lew Burdette, and led until the eighth when successive singles by pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski, Red Schoendienst and Torre scored the Braves third run to tie the score.

Miss Dodd Leads By 6 At Jackson

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 17 (AP)—Betty Dodd, golf artist from San Antonio, Tex., scored a four-under-par 72 today to card a 36-hole total of 140 and a six-stroke lead in the first annual Jackson ladies open golf tournament.

The 54-hole, $5,000 tournament, largest women's golf tourney in the circuit this weekend, will end tomorrow with the final 18 holes on the 6,373-yard Colonial Country Club course.

In second place with a two-under-par 74 today was Betty Jameson, also of San Antonio. Her total is 146.

Three were bunched for third place with two-day totals of 148. They were Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., with 77 today; Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., with two rounds of 74; and Jackie Pung of San Francisco with a 73-75.

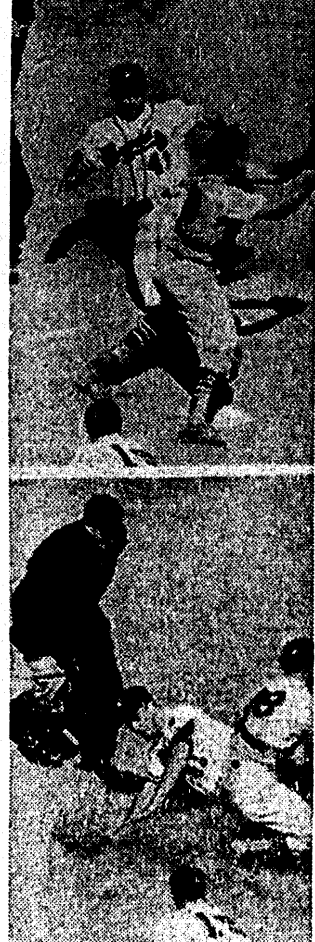

Of the 22 pros entered, 13 either bettered or equaled the women's standard of 38-38-72 for the first 36 holes.

Still low amateur in the field is Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss., four-time state amateur queen, with a 78-79-157. Peggy Sweet of Vicksburg, Miss., recent runner-up to Miss Mills for the state crown, was second low amateur at 165.

Hermene Boteler of Jackson, city champion is third with 173.

Today's round was played in favorable weather with clouds shielding the sun. A hard 10-minute rain around noon wobbled the temperature.

The weatherman forecast a clear but not-too-hot Sunday for the final round.

THE WINNING RUN—Milwaukee Braves third baseman Eddie Mathews slides into home plate to score the winning run in the eleventh inning of yesterday's game with the Cardinals at Milwaukee. Hal Smith tries to put the ball on him. Umpire is Hal Dixon. No. 19 is Hawk Taylor who scored ahead of Mathews on Hank Aaron's double that won the game, 5-4. Cards had scored one in top of 11th. Liver Ailment To Keep Texas End Out For Season

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (UP)—Texas football Coach Darrell Royal announced today that Danny Myers of Waco, one of only three returning lettermen ends from 1956, will not be able to play this season because of a liver ailment.

Royal learned from Myers' physician that the aggressive end will not be able to play.

Myers is the sixth of the eight 1956 lettermen ends to be lost. The only lettermen ends returning now are Bob Bryant of Plainview and Bill Germany of Freeport, both of whom are listed at right end.

Napoleon Bonaparte was promoted to general in the French Army when he was 24 years old.

Shantz Sacks 10th Triumph In 6-2 Scrap

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—Little Bobby Shantz finally scored his 10th victory after five futile tries as the New York Yankees ups some of manager Paul Richards' strategy today to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2.

Mickey Mangle collected two singles in five times at bat to raise his average two points to .384. He thus gained ground on Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox in the race for the American League batting crown. Williams had one hit in two trips in his game at Washington, keeping his average at .393.

Shantz who scored his last previous victory on June 23, scattered nine hits and helped his own cause at bat with a double, a walk and a sacrifice bunt.

Richards started right-hander Ray Moore against the Yankees' batting order that was made up of six left-handed hitters, including switch-hitting Mantle. However, after Enos Slaughter had fouled out and Joe Collins singled in the first inning, Richards removed Moore and brought in southpaw Bill O'Dell.

Alexandria Star Bidding For Undefeated Campaign

By ED TUNSTALL.
ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 17 (AP)—For a pitcher to compile a 19-0 season and stand a good chance of finishing the campaign unbeaten is rarer than a .400 hitter, but a New York Yankee farmhand in Louisiana's Evangeline League is just a step or two away from that mark.

Gallant Man Cops Travers As Expected

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Ralph Lowe's dandy little colt Gallant Man and his good friend Willie Shoemaker did the expected today as they teamed to win the Travers Handicap in a speedy two minutes, four seconds for the mile and a quarter.

Shoemaker steered the east's leading colt to a half length triumph over Bureaucracy, with Field Of Honor seven lengths back of the winner.

A crowd of 27,172 made Gallant Man, top weighted at 126 pounds, a prohibitive favorite and the prices of $2.30, $2.20, $2.10 showed the result. Bureaucracy, ridden by Bill Coland, returned $3.50 and $2.10. Field of Honor paid $2.10.

A record handle of $1,522,596 marked the betting at Saratoga, as the co-feature Grand Union Hotel stakes went to Jimmer. Edward J. Potter Jr.'s "lion was second and Louis D'Or and Nance's Rule com'ed for third. Jimmer paid $10 straight in the $25,000 added event.

Strong-armed Bob Riesener, a 20-year-old Linden, N. J., native, posted his 19th victory without a loss this week for Alexandria's leaders in the four-team Class C circuit. The season ends next Wednesday.

Alexandria manager Ken Silvestri, who toiled for the Yankees as a catcher in the days of their great righthanders Alie Reynolds and Vic Raschi, calls the 6-2, 19-pounder a "real smart pitcher."

His fast ball is the "old reliable," says Riesener, but Silvestri contends the righthander's big weapon is his marvelous control. Riesener has issued only 70 walks and has fanned 127.

"He moves the ball around real good," said the Alexandria manager, whose team showed an eight and a half game lead through Wednesday's games. "He'll pitch high and tight and then come in low and outside, then the curve, the fast ball, all right on the nose in the strike zone. He keeps a batter rocking."

Riesener's record reads like something a sports fiction writer wouldn't have dreamed. In working 195 innings, the Alexandria ace has allowed only 49 earned runs on 161 hits for an earned run mark of 2.26. By comparison, his closest rival in the earned run column sports a 3.15 average.

Giants' Big Decision May Come At Meeting Monday

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—The New York Giants' decision to shift their National League franchise to San Francisco is expected to be made next week following a special meeting of the club's board of directors on Monday.

At the same time it was learned that another board of directors' meeting — of the Brooklyn Dodgers — has been scheduled for "the last week in August" to consider the possibility of moving the National League champions to Los Angeles.

There appears no question that the Giants will be in San Francisco in 1958 and it is nearly as certain that the Dodgers will also do their playing next season in California. Despite recent reports to the contrary, President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers never has considered any New York area other than his coveted Flat-bush Avenue site. Unless the city officials do a complete about face—which is most unlikely — that area will not be made available to O'Malley.

That's what O'Malley will tell the other major Dodger stockholders. Mrs. James Mulvey and Mrs. John Smith, who own 50 per cent of the stock, are expected to yield to O'Malley once they are convinced they cannot receive any help from the city fathers.

Stoneham, who has made it plain he wants to take his club to San Francisco next season, has stated he will announce his plans as soon as he receives the green light from the board. O'Malley, on the other hand, has been mum regarding his intentions.

Each club has received admittedly generous bids. San Francisco's offer includes the erection of an eight-million, 45,000 capacity stadium to be ready in 1959 and an attractive low rental fee. Los Angeles' offer to the Dodgers includes a 55,000-capacity stadium with a low rental fee, parking and concessions deals.

Figuring largely in the plans of both clubs are contract propositions for closed-circuit television of Giant and Dodger games in San Francisco and Los Angeles carrying a minimum guarantee of a million dollars a year.

Stoneham told his stockholders last week a move to San Francisco could "almost guarantee a net profit of $200,000 to $300,000 a year." The Giants' profit last year was a reported $26,000 when they drew only 630,000 as compared to a 1,400,000 a few years ago. The Dodgers' profit amounted to $487,462 last year when they drew 1,231,000 as compared to their record high of 1,800,000 ten years ago. Attendance is off in both parks this year.

Once the Giants and Dodgers officially announce their intentions, they will waste little time setting the wheels in motion. While the road west doesn't promise to be smooth no real obstacle is expected to confront the New York clubs.

Leslie O'Connor, president of the harried Pacific Coast League, who had been expected to prove a stumbling block, already has announced the league would not fight any officially sanctioned major league baseball move to California by the Giants and Dodgers, but expects a "just and reasonable compensation."

What O'Connor regards as "just and reasonable compensation" may soon be known when the Giants and Dodgers begin their move to the west coast. With such league cities as Hollywood, San Diego and Sacramento situated so close to Los Angeles and San Francisco, it is felt the league would be wrecked once the two main cities are gobbled up by the majors. The other loop members include Vancouver, Portland and Seattle. All clubs are sure to seek reimbursement for damages, which may reach the neighborhood of several million dollars.

A Dodger move to Los Angeles appears much easier accomplishment than a Giant move to San Francisco. Brooklyn, already owning the L. A. franchise, would have to satisfy the other members of the league. It could either give up the L. A. franchise or move it to another city.

New York owns no franchise in the P. C. L. The San Francisco franchise is owned by the Boston Red Sox. Red Sox general manager Joe Cronin already has said his club was willing to talk business with the Giants.

"Certainly they (the Giants) can move to San Francisco," Cronin was quoted as saying several months ago. "All they have to do is pay us damages."

What these damages are only the Red Sox know. The Giants will find out when they start negotiating with the Red Sox or draft the territory between Oct. 1 and Oct. 31. Then, the Giants still would have to settle with the other P. C. L. clubs.

In each case where a settlement is necessary, the sum must be a just and reasonable compensation," according to baseball law. If the parties involved can't get together, the machinery is set up for a seven-man board of arbitration. This board would include baseball commissioner Ford Frick, National Association president, George Trautman, the presidents of each league and each club involved and a seventh person hand-picked by the commissioner.

Little League World Series Set This Week

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP)—The nation's four top little boy baseball teams square off Wednesday to open the 11th annual Little League World Series in this central Pennsylvania community.

The four are the sole survivors of local and regional eliminations. They represent 4,300 Little League teams in 47 states and 12 foreign countries.

The regional champions — representing north, south, east and west — are the winners of week-end contests in Chicago, Louisville, San Francisco and Rockville Center, N. Y.

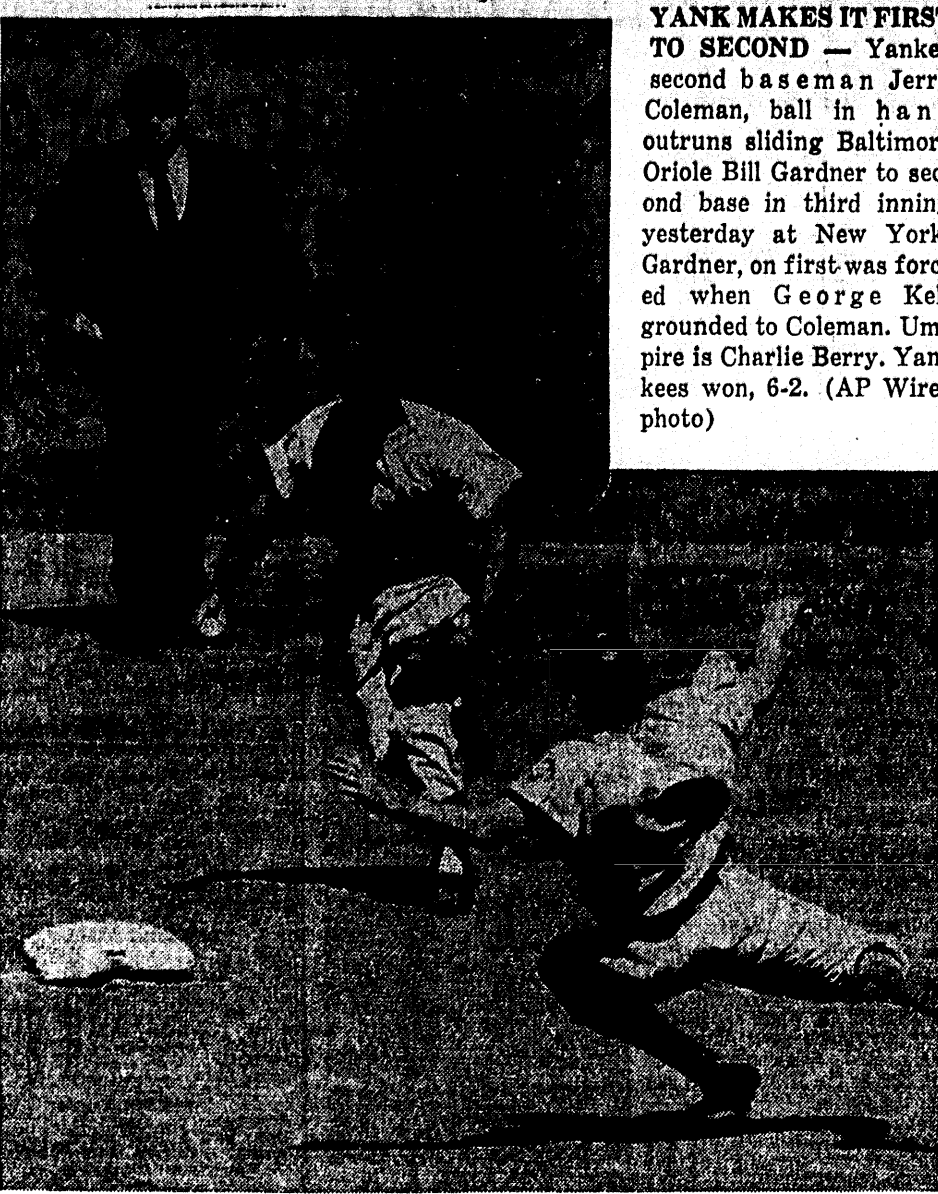

The selection of four teams this year marks an innovation over previous tournaments when eight teams went into a four-day play-off.

In the opening round Thursday the northern champion will play the western winner in a game at 12:30 p.m., CST, and the southern champion will meet the eastern winner at 3:30 p.m., CST. The games will decide the two finalists who will play for the Little League world title Friday at 1 p.m., CST. On Thursday the two losers will compete in a consolation game.

Ordinarily in Little League competition boys 8 to 12 years old may play, but the championship games are limited to youngsters 11 or 12 years old. Squads are held to 14 players for the tourney.

The 1956 championship went to Roswell, New Mexico.

Chicago Defeats Reds Again, 2-1

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (UP)—Ernie Banks' long sacrifice fly to right field shattered Hal Jeffcoat's mound strategy in the eighth inning today and gave the Chicago Cubs their fifth straight victory, a 2-1 decision over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The loss was the fifth straight for the Redlegs.

Jeffcoat issued an intentional pass to Dale Long after one out in the eighth to load the bases. Banks lofted the ball to Wally Post in right and Bob Speake romped in from third with the winning run.

Rademacher Fit And Ready To Fight Floyd Right Now

By JACK HEWINS
SEATTLE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Pete Rademacher made a fist of one huge hand and pounded it into the palm of the other. And he said, quietly but firmly, "I'm fit. I wish the fight was right now."

America's Olympic champion heavyweight, whose first professional fight will be for the championship of the world, added a note for the skeptics: "If I didn't think I could lick Floyd Patterson I wouldn't be here."

About the only people who seem to think the burly Pete has a chance in his Aug. 22 bout against the champ are the folks in Rademacher's own camp and — at least on the surface — Patterson and his manager, Cus D'Amato.

"He's a big, strong, hard-punching heavyweight," D'Amato said of Rademacher. "We aren't forgetting he won the Olympic title. After Floyd won his Olympic middleweight crown in 1952 I felt he was ready to meet the best of the pros, but I couldn't get him the fights."

"He's a pro," chimed in Patterson, meaning it as a high compliment. Neither Floyd nor the manager would predict an early knockout — or any knockout. "We will fight the fight on Thursday night," D'Amato said at Patterson's training camp in nearby Kent, Wash.

Rademacher viewed things in the same light but was more eager for the day to arrive. Freshly showered after his workout in the barnlike firemen's recreation hall at Issaquah, Wash., Rademacher said he intended to let Patterson "set the pattern."

"What he does will determine what I do," said the big farm boy from Grandview, Wash., who will outweigh the champion some 25 pounds. He expects to tip 210 at the Thursday noon weigh-in, to Patterson's 185.

Strangely — for a man taking his first professional step — he will have the champion out-experienced, too. At 28 he is six years older than Patterson and has been fighting 15 years, as against Floyd's seven.

Big Pete had 79 fights, winning 72 — 35 by knockout or TKO. The belltollers point out that these were amateur three-rounders, whereas the 33 pro bouts credited to Patterson were over much longer routes. The champion lost one pro engagement; Rademacher dropped seven amateur outings.

Pete is self-managed. He visited D'Amato in New York and convinced him this fight could be a financial success. Stationed in Georgia with the Army, Pete interested a number of businessmen who have posted a $250,000 guarantee for Patterson — plus another $100,000 to assure the champion a return bout if Rademacher wins.

The fight is scheduled for 10 p.m., Pacific Standard Time (12 midnight, CST). Because promoter Jack Hurley has barred telecasts and radio coverage of the scrap, Patterson's home folks in Mount Vernon, N. Y., will have to wait until the bout ends for a broadcast report. Newspapers will receive round-by-round information.

Such prominent figures as Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis, Rep. Hugh Scott (R., Pa.), and Floyd Stevens, president of the National Boxing Association, have joined many others in labelling the fight a mismatch. The Washington state athletic commission has turned a deaf ear to all protests.

Hurley listens — while he opens his mail and sorts the ticket orders. He had $100,000 cash in the till at the last check, and he was not counting orders not accom-

Mexico Wins Little League Tournament
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17 (AP)—Monterrey, Mexico's, Little Leaguers, won the Southern Regional baseball tournament today 3-0 over Owensboro, Ky.
Knoxville, Tenn., downed Biloxi, Miss., 9-1 in the consolation.
The Mexicans got all their runs in the fourth inning. Angel Macias, their ambidextrous jack-of-all-trades, struck out 11 and gave up only one hit.
The loss went to Bon Woodward of Owensboro.
Mexico's win sends them to Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 21-23 for a crack at the national crown with winners of regionals in Chicago, New York and San Francisco.

Sanford Gets 16th Victory As Phils Beat Giants, 3-1

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (UP)—Rookie Jack Sanford won his 16th game of the season today as he pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants.

It was the fourth straight victory over the Giants for Sanford, who has lost only four times this year.

New York's lone run off the freshman righthander came in the first inning. Danny O'Connell opened the game with a single and went to third on Ray Mueller's single to right.

O'Connell crossed as Willie Mays grounded into a double play.

"Wall Of Death" Highlights Speedway Racing Program

A trip through a "Wall of Death" highlights today's program at the Twin City Speedway that also includes the usual stock and modified auto races.

The "Wall of Death" is a 10 ft. high and 10 ft. wide wall of solid wood. It'll be set afire and a car will be driven through — with a man laying on the hood. Track manager Gerald Greenway says the identity of the reckless chap on the hood will not be revealed until just before the feat.

The race program gets underway at 1 o'clock this afternoon and the "Wall" attraction is set to go on just before the feature races about 3 p.m. Greenway reports that the new chemical on the track seems to be working

Relaxation Of Training Rules Helps Cardinals

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17 (AP)—St. Louis manager Fred Hutchinson relaxed the training rules and posted a phony lineup before last night's game with Milwaukee.

And he believes it helped his reeling Birds post a 6-2 victory over the league leaders and snap a nine-game losing streak.

Thursday as the team was approaching Milwaukee from Chicago, Hutchinson let it be known that he didn't care when his athletes checked into their hotel rooms.

As far as he was concerned the midnight curfew was off.

Hutchinson then posted a lineup in the dugout before the opener of the crucial four-game series with the streaking Braves and instead of the regulars, the card showed the names of:

Coaches Terry Moore, Stan Hack and Al Hollingsworth; Dick Musial, Stan Musial's son; John Hollingsworth, son of the Cardinal coach; and Butch Yatkeman and Tommy Ferguson, the Cardinals' equipment manager and the visiting team's clubhouse attendant here.

Talking of taking off that midnight curfew, Hutchinson remarked:

"I guess that I expected the McDaniel boys (Von and Lindy) might even indulge with a double malted milk."

Von is 18 and Lindy is 21. Both are avid Bible students.

As it turned out, Lindy was the winning pitcher.

Groth's 5th Straight Hit Puts Tigers Over Chisox

DETROIT, Aug. 17 (UP)—Johnny Groth smashed his fifth straight single today to score Charley Maxwell from second base with the winning run in the 10th inning today and give the Detroit Tigers a 9-8 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Groth's single with two out climaxed a long uphill battle for the Tigers who twice had to come from behind to tie the game despite raking five Chicago pitchers for 21 hits—their highest output in more than a year.

Maxwell dropped a Texas league double to right with two down in the 10th and reliever Paul LaPalme, who took the defeat, walked Bill Tuttle before Groth slashed his hit down the third base line.

Pirates Scuttle Dodgers On Kline 6-Hitter, 7 To 3

BROOKLYN, Aug. 17 (UP)—Right-hander Ronnie Kline, who had been unable to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in four previous attempts this year, finally did today as the Pittsburgh Pirates overcame an early three-run deficit to register a 7-3 victory.

Kline gave up only six hits—four by Roy Campanella—and went all the way to pitch the first complete game of his career at Ebbets Field. A four-run fifth inning in which the Pirates knocked out starter Sandy Koufax sewed up the decision for Kline.

Sally Lee Cops Del Mar Event

DEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 17 (AP)—George Covert's Sally Lee, a double stakes winner at Hollywood Park, captured Del Mar's 2-year-old filly championship today in winning the seventh running of the $40,000 Debutante.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson's pair of Mrs. E. B. and Be My Honey finished second and third, respectively, in the 12-horse field. Ridden by jockey Pete Moreno, Sally Lee covered the six furlongs in 1:10 2-5 and paid $7, $3.90 and $4.90. The Johnson entry returned $4 and $3.90.

Althea Gibson Enters Finals Of Essex Meet

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 17 (UP)—Wimbledon queen Althea Gibson won her way into the final of the Essex Country club's 30th annual Women's Invitational tennis tournament today, turning back Darlee Hard for the fifth time in two years, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6.

A scrap all the way, Althea Gibson, a 29-year-old New York girl, breezed to a first-set victory, then dropped the second set to the Montebello, Calif., resident after having her service broken three times.

Gibson's opponent in Sunday's final, will be second-seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., who today ousted sixth-seeded Mrs. Dorothy Knodel of Forest Hills, N. Y., 6-1, 6-4.

It is the fourth time that the 34-year-old Miss Brough has been in the tourney final. She won it in 1942, lost in 1952 and was defeated last year by Shirley Fry. The Gibson and Fry advanced to the doubles final, eliminating Margaret Varner of El Paso, Tex., and Belmar Gordon of Chambersburg, Pa., 6-3, 6-1.

Ted Would Be Oldest If He Wins Bat Title

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston's Splendid Splinter, would be the oldest player ever to win the American League batting championship if he wins the title this year.

Williams will be 39 Friday and stands an excellent chance of not only capturing his fifth batting crown but also becoming the first 400 hitter in the majors since his 1941 mark of .406.

According to statistics released by the American League service bureau, Mickey Vernon, then with Washington, won the title in 1933 at the age of 35 with a .337 average.

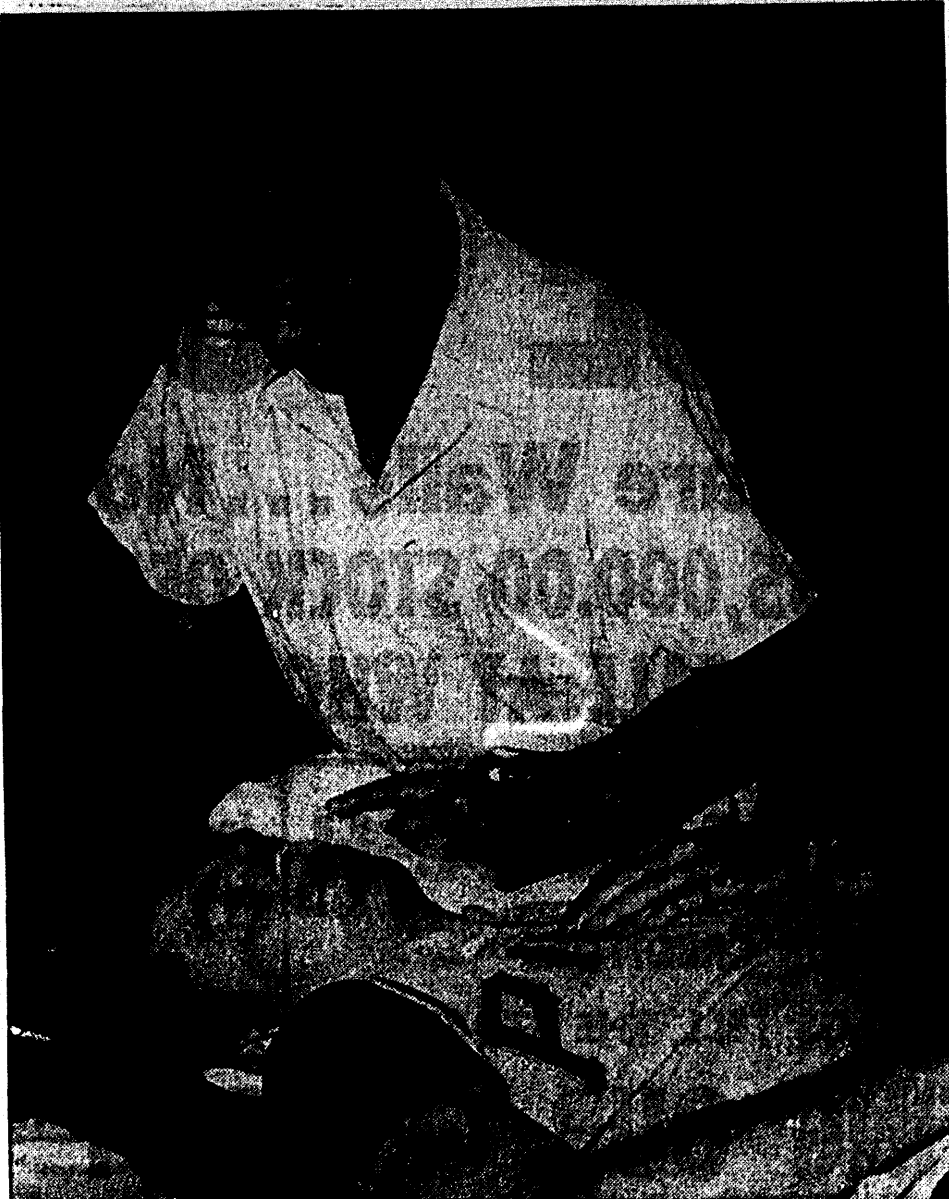

Others of the elderly set to win American League batting titles were Charley Gehring, Detroit, 34, in 1937 with a .353, and Tris Speaker, Cleveland, 33, in 1916 with a .386.

Ty Cobb, who won 12 titles with Detroit, was 32 when he topped the league with a .384 in 1919.

Should Williams win this year, he'll become the second oldest player in the American League to win five times. Cobb was the first.

The Red Sox slugger won in 1941 (.406), 1942 (.356), 1947 (.343), and 1949 (.369). He missed by a fraction in 1949 when he finished with .3427 to George Kelly's .3429.

The youngest ever to win the title was Al Kaline of Detroit with .340 in 1955 at the age of 20. Kaline was one day younger than Cobb when he annexed the championship in 1907 with .350.

PITTSBURGH PITCHER HIT BY BALL — Pittsburgh Pirate trainer Charles Jorgensen gives first aid to pitcher Bob Smith in dressing room at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, yesterday, after Smith was hit on the head by a ball thrown by outfielder Bill Virdon during fielding practice before game with Dodgers. Later taken to hospital, x-rays were negative. (AP Wirephoto)

Curtis Clan In 6-Man Tag Bout At Kallio's Tomorrow

The Curtis clan, a bad bunch of boys to be feudin' and fightin' with, take on three genuine mat meanies Monday night in a 6-man tag-team bout that highlights Gus Kallio's weekly wrestling program.

When we say the Curtis clan, we're talking about those rough and tough Mississippi boys from over Vicksburg way, Jack, Jack Jr., and George.

Jack Jr., the newly crowned Louisiana heavyweight king, might be in for a rough time at the hands of one of the villainous three who're opposing the Curtis boys. The gent in question is Frank Hurley, whom Jack relieved of his title belt last week in the local arena. The big Australian is burning for revenge and is not going to let any rules or ref stop him.

Frank will have Jules LaRance, the bald Canadian, and Charlie Harben, who made his local debut last week, to help him. Jack will have plenty of help himself. Jack Jr., the chip off the old block that outgrew the block, tips the scales at around 210 lbs. and Poppa has taught him well. As for Uncle George, Hurley and company know from experience not to fool around with this boy.

LaRance is one of the more unpopular grunt and groaners doing business in these parts and has ability to match his unpopularity. Harben showed last week that he is plenty man but no gentleman. As for Hurley, he was a nasty customer before losing his championship and it's doubtful its loss last week has improved his disposition any. Frank has been wrestling in Monroe so much lately he's beginning to seem like a fixture but the fans show no inclination to accept him as "old home folks."

The tag-match will be over the 90-minute or less route with two falls needed to win. A pair of one-fall preliminaries to be announced at ringside will precede the main event.

Promoter Kallio was released from the hospital last Wednesday and is recuperating at his apartment. He'll be present at the matches tomorrow night, which should please his many friends as much as it pleases Gus.

Venturi Fires 65 To Take Lead In St. Paul Tourney

By BOB DODER
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 17 (UP)—Ken Venturi of San Francisco fired a seven-under par 65 today for a 54-hole total of 198, 18 under par, and the lead in the St. Paul open.

Venturi, a 26-year-old auto salesman who turned professional after his brilliant showing in the 1956 masters tournament when he finished second, carded seven birdies and used only 27 putts.

He had a two-stroke lead over big Mike Souchak, who won the tourney last year with a closing surge of six straight birdies. Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., and Marty Furtol, 40-year-old veteran from Lemon, Ill.

Venturi missed a four-foot putt on the 18th when the ball veered off after hitting a spike mark. But the likeable newcomer didn't have any complaints.

"I sure can't kick about my putting," he said, "I'm playing as good as I can and all I can do is hope it's good enough."

Jay Hebert, the 34-year-old ex-Marine purple heart winner who led the field after 36 holes, slumped to a 71 and a five-way tie at 202.

Others at that mark—14 under regulation—were Art Walls Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, Bo Winger, Tex., and Dave Thomas of London, England.

Thomas produced the day's most spectacular round when he fired a nine-under par 63, the best of the tourney. Thomas, a

6 Queens Will Rule Ruston's Football Show

R' STON, La. (Special) — Customary procedure will be followed by the six teams entered in the Ruston Lions Club's sixth annual Football Jamboree on the night of August 30, when each team will be represented by a queen of its own choosing. This feature of the jamboree has been carried out in all of the previous grid festivals, and has met with great approval, both from the teams and the fans.

Special events planned for the "royalty" will include a banquet in Ruston on the evening of the game, a pre-jamboree parade onto the field, special introductions to the crowd of fans, and seating arrangements in a special box reserved for the queens along the west sideline of Louisiana Tech stadium, the scene of the contests.

Kickoff time for the Lions grid extravaganza will be at 8 o'clock, when Coushatta and Farmerville will sink their cleats into the turf in the initial scrimmage of the evening. This first contest will be followed by a get-together on the part of Homer and Jonesboro-Hodge, and the climax of the evening will be a headknocker between Mansfield and Ruston. All six teams got their football practices underway this week, and should be in fair shape for this pre-season scrimmage session two weeks hence.

Another feature of the annual jamboree will be the appearance of the six high school principals and their wives in a special box during the festivities. Other dignitaries have been invited, and their names will be released at a later date. Invitations have been issued for any of the high school bands representing the six schools to participate in the jamboree. Any of the six bands will be admitted free if outfitted in uniforms and prepared to furnish music for the occasion.

Co-chairmen C. W. Colvin and Dwayne Oglesby announced a complete list of committee assignments for the jamboree this week, when they named the following Lions as committee chairmen: Dr. D. M. Hall, club president — opening ceremonies; Dr. E. C. Lederer and Burton R. Risinger — ticket sales; H. C. Pyburn — stadium arrangements; Pearce Colvin — concessions; Cecil Crowley and Jimmy Mize — arrangements for teams. Other members of the Ruston Lions club have a variety of duties to perform.

Tickets are on sale at the following prices: students, 50 cents; general admission, $1; reserved seats, $1.50; and box seats, $2.

FINAL RESTING PLACE

Fine Hebrew Manuscript Finds Home After 500-Year Odyssey

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — One of the world's most beautiful Hebrew manuscripts has found a resting place in the Holy City after an exciting odyssey of five centuries.

The book, valued at about a quarter of a million dollars, is on public display for the first time in the Bezalel Jewish National Museum in Jerusalem.

The origin of the nearly one thousand thin parchment pages studded with colored miniatures and delicate illuminations is a matter of dispute among the experts.

Famed Florentine art historian Bernard Berenson and other authorities think the manuscript was made about 1475 by one or more artists near Naples. Other modern scholars feel the writers and illustrators lived in northern Italy, perhaps in Padua.

But all agree the work is magnificent and comparable to similar manuscripts in the Vatican Library and the British Museum.

Its writings are not original. It is an anthology of 70 different works, including Biblical extracts and commentaries, prayers, legends, moral teachings, treatises on religious rites, poems and even calendar.

More than 300 years after its creation, the book was discovered in the library of Giuseppe Almanzi, an Italian Jew's bibliophile of Padua. Later, it turned up in the Rothschild library in Paris, listed simply as "Manuscript No. 24."

When the World War II Germans occupied Paris, they took the Rothschild Library to western Germany and stored it with other books once owned by Jews.

Manuscript No. 24 vanished for a time after the war, then unexpectedly, was offered to various Jewish libraries, including the library of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York.

New York authorities recognized the book and notified Baron James de Rothschild of London. It was restored to Rothschild and remained in his possession for several years.

A few months before his death last May 7, Rothschild donated it to the Bezalel Museum on condition the donor remain anonymous. The condition was observed until after he died.

Bezalel Director Dr. Mordechai Narkis received the manuscript on his death bed. He died March 26.

Dr. Narkis' son, Bezalel Ben Mordechai, said:

"It was not only a consolation in his suffering but like a gift sent by Providence to prolong his life. He leaped through it again and again. And more than he guarded the manuscript, the manuscript guarded him."

The manuscript will be an attraction for scholars at the Bezalel because, strangely enough, it has never been thoroughly studied in all its five centuries of wandering.

MAGNIFICENT WORK: A page from the Hebrew "Manuscript No. 24" shows a miniature and delicate illuminations that make it a work comparable to the manuscripts of the Vatican Library and the British Museum. It is now in the Bezalel Jewish National Museum in Jerusalem after five centuries of wandering.

East Carroll Recreation Club Leases 8,000 Acres

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Approximately 8,000 acres of land for fishing and hunting have been leased by the East Carroll Recreation Club, Inc., according to Sheriff J. W. "Red" Gilbert, who was instrumental in the creation of the sportsman's club.

The land, which is located on the R. F. Learned and Sons property, locally known as Willow Point and Newman's Tow Head, is directly across the river from Roosevelt.

Sheriff Gilbert said, "This is the most ideal hunting and fishing area in north Louisiana, with the fishing unexcelled anywhere."

Membership Open — Membership in the non-profit organization is open to any sportsman at a membership fee of $20.00 per year. The dues will be used to defray expenses of operating the club.

Papers of incorporation were filed this week, with the following:

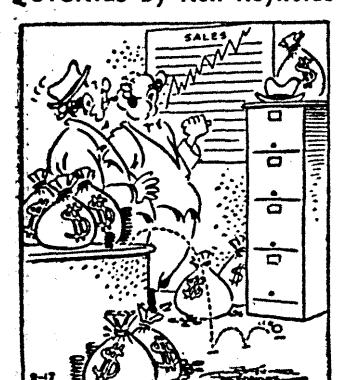

ing subscribers: J. W. Gilbert, Jesse L. Clement, W. H. Crews, F. C. Fortenberry, Lee Johnson, E. V. Parker, Rex Ezell, Reece Coleman, and J. W. Johnson.

The club was incorporated for a period of 99 years, with domicile in the Town of Lake Providence, organized and operated exclusively for the purpose of promoting and insuring hunting and fishing areas for residents of East Carroll parish.

Its officers shall be a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and such other officers as the board of directors shall elect or appoint. Officers will be elected annually and shall serve one year. The first board of directors shall consist of nine members.

The club has already signed a two year lease on the property, with an option for renewal.

BOOKS—Views and News

THE LOVE-SEEKERS

A Candid Novel Of People Seeking And Yearning For One Thing—Love

THE LOVE-SEEKERS By Leonora Hornblow (Random House, $3.75, pp 308).

This novel is just what its title suggests and on the whole is a fairly good book, although it drags occasionally for lack of dynamic action.

It is the story of a beautiful named Letty Bradley, a successful lawyer named Lewis Medburn, a mysterious underworld figure, Eddie Welsh, Bee Medburn and Mab Lacey, all New Yorkers of a sort.

Bee Medburn is the estranged wife of Lewis Medburn. As the novel opens, Letty and Lewis are going steady, with plans to be married as soon as Bee gives her husband a divorce.

But Bee is in no hurry, and although, one man apparently will never make her happy, Lewis comes as close as anyone. Also Bee still maintains a strong appeal over Lewis.

Bee is ruthless, but lost in a modern world.

In Letty's background is also a violent affair with Welsh who suddenly left her one day. Although his ways and actions are against her understanding, she can't seem thing for it. One thing all have in common: they are yearning for love and just to be loved.

In the end it works out and both Lewis and Letty realize what they had in the past was only superficial and that true love is built on solid understanding and trust.

Even those who might be shocked by the candor of many of the scenes and situations in this book will be won by the warmth and wit of its telling.

As in her first novel, Memory and Desire, Leonora Hornblow shows a rare capacity for depicting the modern scene and the people living in it with perception and understanding. It is more of a book of our day than a lot of us would like to admit.

RUSSIA REVISITED

A New Look At The Soviet Union And Her Satellites

RUSSIA REVISITED: A New Look at Russia and Her Satellites. By Louis Fischer. Doubleday.

Fischer is an American journalist and writer who lived in the Soviet Union from 1922 to 1938 and has written prolifically on Soviet affairs as well as on other subjects. Originally sympathetic to the Bolshevik experiment, he became like many other Americans familiar at first hand with the Soviet Union, convinced after years in Moscow, that Soviet rule was a terrifying form of tyranny.

In the summer of 1936 he received a visa to return to the Soviet Union after an absence of not quite 20 years. The predicted return of the Soviet Union to her pre-war boundaries through the growth of democracy in the Soviet satellites will be the latest spread freedom inside the Soviet Union itself.

He spent his entire visit in Moscow and concentrated on visiting those among his Soviet acquaintances whom he could find through use of the Moscow telephone book.

The heart of this book is his reports of these conversations.

AN AIR THAT KILLS

A Murder Mystery With A Somewhat Different Twist

AN AIR THAT KILLS By Margaret Millar (Random House, $3.50).

A murder mystery with somewhat of a different twist.

At a crisis in his second marriage, Ron Galloway dropped from sight.

He told his wife and sons in Toronto good-bye and started out for his hunting lodge, where he had invited some friends to spend the weekend with him.

When he fails to appear, two of his friends, Ralph Turee and Harry Bream, took it upon themselves to investigate his disappearance. Even before his body was found they discovered that Ron had been leading a double life.

In fact, before his divorce from his first wife was final, he was living with the woman who later became his second. And about six months before his disappearance, Ron started an affair with Bream's wife.

The night on route to the hunting lodge, he stopped by Bream's home and was told by Bream's wife that she was pregnant and, by Ron. After leaving there, supposedly, Ron disappears.

He was found dead several days later in his automobile in deep water. The car had fallen from a high cliff.

Bream appears to be broken up after he learns of the affair between Ron and his wife and disappears. Later Bream's wife also disappears.

Ralph Turee, not satisfied with many aspects of the murder, finally finds out where Bream's wife is living and decides to visit her in the hopes of uncovering additional information.

He uncovered more than he had bargained for. In fact, he solved the murder. It turned out that Ron was killed by Bream and his

Rabbi Named To Police Board In Kansas City

By LEO MARKS
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Behind the appointment of Dr. Samuel S. Mayerberg to the Kansas City Police Board is the exciting story of a rabbi who "arose more than two decades ago to become the conscience of a city sunk in corruption."

The words are those of the Kansas City Star which fought boss rule alongside Rabbi Mayerberg and his followers for eight turbulent years until the Tom Pendergast political machine was smashed at the polls in 1940.

"He was the courageous spearhead in the earliest drive to clean up Kansas City," the Star commented on the rabbi's appointment by Gov. James T. Blair Jr. of Missouri. "The name Mayerberg is synonymous with civic reform and decency."

"The mild-mannered man of God is in his 60s now. 'Being on the Police Board,' he says, 'is part of my ministry, as much so as my crusade against the machine."

Rabbi Mayerberg started his famous campaign in May 1932, with a speech charging that the city's nonpartisan municipal charter was being violated. He accused the Police Department of firing honest men and replacing them with hoodlums and ex-convicts, pals of North Side gangster Johnny Lazia. Lazia, the Al Capone of Kansas City, was shot to death in 1934.

Dr. Mayerberg recalled that Lazia, in his heyday, controlled enough votes to swing a close city election. Boss Pendergast "needed" those votes and was willing to turn the town over to Lazia to get them," he said.

At first the machine tried ignoring the rabbi, but Dr. Mayerberg intensified the pressure—patronizing his campaign, he says, after "those fearless, God-intoxicated men of Israel."

DEDICATION TODAY—This $750,000 air-conditioned First Baptist Church at Bastrop, will be officially dedicated today. The floor space covers more than one acre. The spire is 126 feet high. The auditorium will seat 1,300. (Photo by Allen Turpin.)

REV. C. AVERETT

DR. RAMSEY POLLARD

Rev. C. Averett Becomes Pastor At Emmanuel

Emmanuel Baptist Church, West Monroe, has just called the Rev. Cecil H. Avery of Crossett, Ark. to become pastor and he has already moved on his new field. He is no stranger here for he has taught Sunday school in Ridge Avenue Baptist church, where he received his license to preach and was ordained to the ministry in 1944, after receiving his B. A. degree from Millsaps college.

He served as pastor of the Cheneviere Baptist Church where he served three years before going to Crossett.

Mrs. Avery was known formerly as Miss Ruth Whitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Idus Whitman of Choudrant. Their four children will be enrolled in the West Monroe schools this term. They are residing on Highway 80 opposite Downing's Pines.

The Emanuel Baptist church is at this time meeting in the Highland school cafeteria, but a church edifice is to be erected on Wellerman road in the near future.

WATSONS RETURN

Rev. and Mrs. I. T. Watson have returned to Monroe after a week's vacation in the Ozarks. Rev. Watson will return to his pulpit Sunday to bring a message at the morning hour on "The Bible's Hymn of the Highway." Everyone is most cordially invited to the services.

College Place Will Initiate 10-Day Revival

Dr. Ramsey Pollard, nationally known pastor - evangelist, will speak in revival services at the College Place Baptist Church for ten days beginning August 25.

Dr. Pollard at present is pastor of the great Broadway Baptist Church in Knoxville, Tennessee, with some 4,000 members. He is chairman of the Executive Board of the Tennessee Baptist Convention. He is past president of the Southern Baptist Pastors Conference and past chairman of the Radio Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention and led in keeping the Baptist Hour on the air against all difficulties. He brought the convention sermon to the Southern Baptist convention when they last met in Miami, Florida. He has spoken in every state of the Southern Baptist convention to their Annual Evangelistic Conferences and State Conventions. He is known far and wide for his evangelistic fervor. Having made several trips abroad, he is alerted to the needs of the world. The City of Monroe is privileged to have such a man as this speaking in one of its churches.

Brother Jack Day, music director of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, will conduct the Choral and congregational singing and will render solos throughout the days of this meeting with his beautiful tenor voice.

Services will be at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. daily. College Place Baptist Church is located in College Town just two blocks from Northeast Louisiana State College on 301 Sherrouse Avenue.

IN BASTROP

$750,000 Baptist Church To Be Dedicated Today

BASTROP (Special) — A $750,000 air-conditioned First Baptist Church, which has been under construction for four years, will be formally dedicated at services today at 10:50 a.m.

The huge church, which covers more than an acre of ground and has more than a quarter mile of corridors, was started in 1953 under the pastorate of Rev. Earl C. Whitsitt. Rev. Whitsitt resigned about two years ago because of ill health. Rev. Rust is the present pastor. Week-long services will be held and Rev. Whitsitt will conduct services one night.

At today's service, all those instrumental in the construction of the church will be recognized. This will include William Young, chairman of the building committee; Emmett Stevenson, chairman of finance committee; Allen Turpin, architect; Rannie Teller, of Farmerville, contractor; and many others.

The building is of buff brick and steel. It has colonial-styled pews, a pipe organ and furniture in the classrooms.

Future plans call for a small chapel, recreation room and cafeteria.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I have been very troubled over certain matters that are influencing my life. I feel that I need some special guidance concerning future plans. One of my friends has visited a fortune teller and has been greatly encouraged by what she has learned. What do you think I should do? A. C.

ANSWER: God has purposely hidden the future from us. The life of the Christian should be lived on a daily basis. This is really the difference between living by faith and living by sight. Most of the Pagan nations resorted to fortune telling and sorcery such as Egypt, Babylonia, Assyria and others. The Bible clearly forbids such practices because it is a consulting with evil spirits. (Leviticus 19-31).

Popular fortune telling resorts to mere wishful thinking. By telling us pleasant things, our hopes are given a false stimulation, but they have no foundation in truth. It would be far better for you to discover God's plan for your life through the study of the Scriptures, and then render obedience to His will. Those who do this are never disappointed.

Oak Ridge Ends Great Week Of Church Events

OAK RIDGE (Special) — The past week, starting with last Sunday and running through Friday, has been such as to make history for the Oak Ridge Methodist Church of which Norman F. Simmons is pastor. It has marked, in a big way, the observance of the sesquicentennial of this church.

The week tied off with the Rev. James T. Harris, Monroe district superintendent, preaching at 11 a.m. hour Sunday. Then each night through Thursday, a former pastor delivered a sermon.

In Wednesday night an old fashioned basket picnic was largely attended. And on Friday at 7:30 p.m., a pageant was held which was entitled "Blow Ye the Trumpet."

Exhibits were on display all through the week and proved a banner attraction.

Former pastors were: Sunday night, Rev. George Cagle; Monday night, Rev. James Poole; Tuesday night, Rev. DeWitt Milton; Wednesday night, Rev. Jack Midgett; Thursday night, Rev. Percy Emanuel; and Friday night the elaborate pageant was held.

Bible Words for Today

PROVERBS 14:34 — "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people." (King James Version)

A young Baptist minister, Samuel Francis Smith, wrote the words of "America" while he was a theological student at Andover in February, 1832. In the last stanza is a prayer for our nation:

Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King.

Benjamin Franklin had this same feeling in the dark days of war when he offered a motion that the sessions of the Continental Congress be opened with prayer. Washington prayed at Valley Forge, Lincoln sought Divine guidance, and Wilson followed the leading of the Lord.

If our country is to endure, there must be a revival of righteousness, justice, prayer, faith, and worship to displace the growing tide of greed, envy, lust, hatred, and prejudice. Organized minorities and pressure groups must place the welfare of the whole nation above their selfish interest. The principles of Jesus must be given first place in our relationships with others both in our own land and throughout the world. The true value of human personality must be appreciated. This is the day of opportunity for our nation.

PAT ALEXANDER

Home From Cuba Mission Field

Pat Alexander has been enjoying a month's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Alexander, in Sterling. She has spent four years as American mission worker in Cuba where she will return to her labors in a few days time.

Sunday at 7:30 p.m. she will address the First Methodist church congregation with a description of her work for a number of years among people of Latin origin.

Her story has deep interest and a large attendance is anticipated.

Misconduct Booze Theme Of Address

Judge Jasper Jones will speak on Alcohol and Juvenile Delinquency at Good Hope Baptist Church of Thursday night, Aug. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Unusual interest is being shown in this address and a good sized attendance is anticipated.

REVIVAL TO START

A revival will begin Sunday, August 18, at the First Church of God, corner Beauregard and South Third, Monroe, Louisiana. The Rev. J. R. Tackett will be the evangelist.

Rev. Carl Owens, pastor, extends a cordial invitation to everyone to come each night, extending throughout the week.

MONROE MORNING WORLD

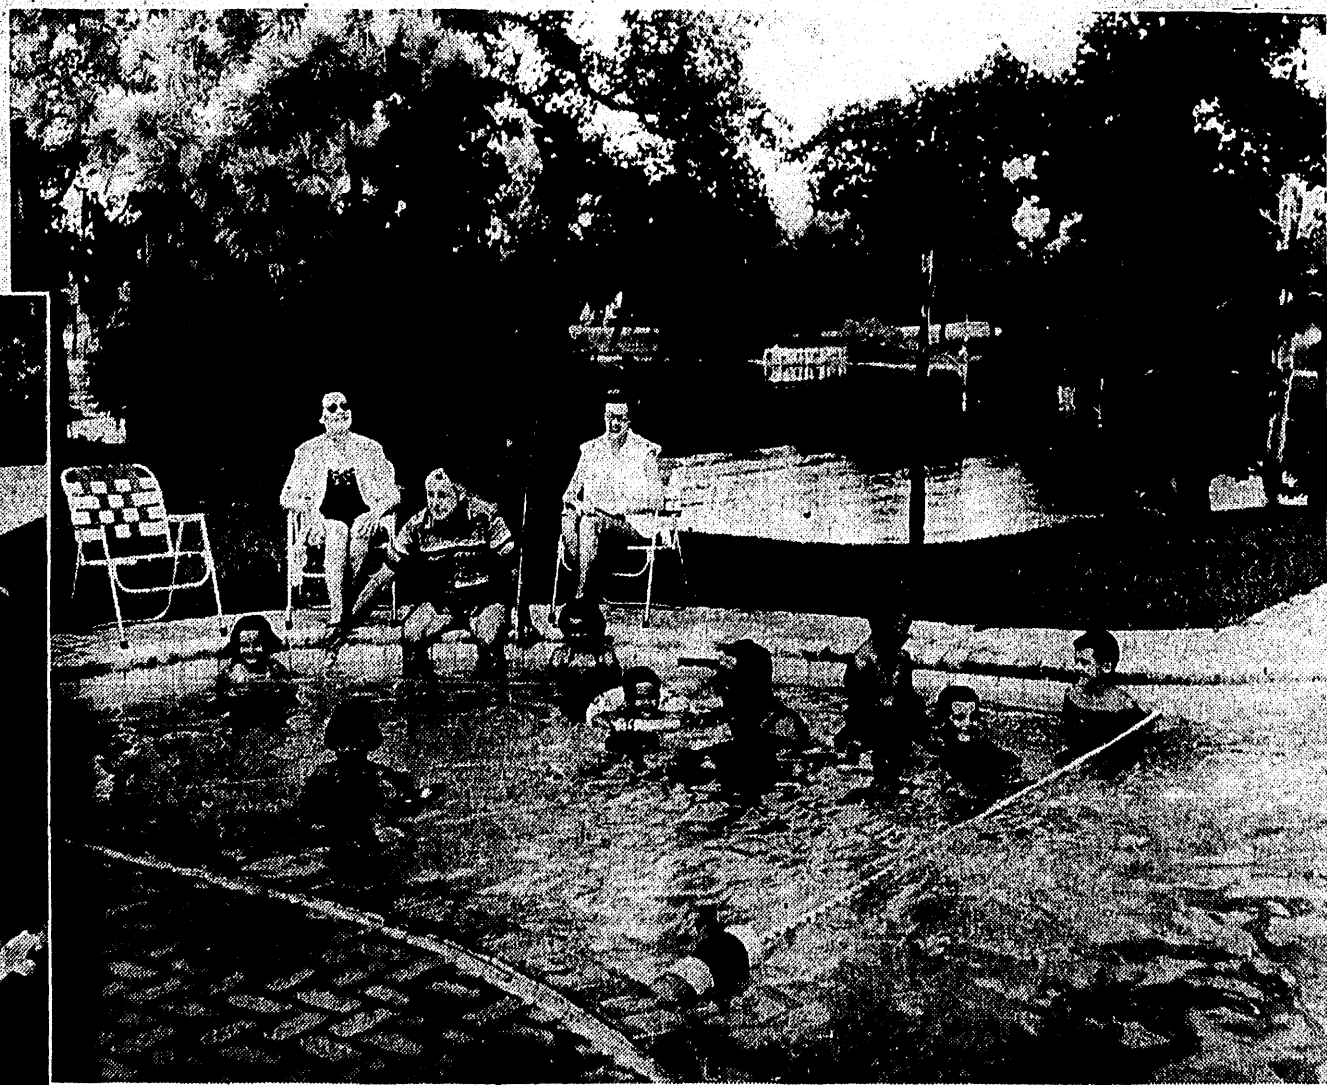

August 18, 1957

Poolside life is surely one of the most pleasant features of the social scene of 1957. The Charles Brown pool at their home on the Loop Road is always a favorite spot. Seated at the side of the pool with her parents, is Carrie with her friend, Little Bits. They're watching (from the left) Charles Jr., Robert and Richard, on raft, have fun in the water.

The Ed Seymour pool in the rear garden of their home on Park Ave. is always a congenial gathering place. Mr. and Mrs. Seymour with son, Print, relax after a swim while the water still attracts Ed Seymour, Jr.

Parties For Shirley McDonald Highlight Of Busy Social Week

Miss Shirley McDonald, the bride-to-be of Lt. Thomas Wallace, was honoree this week at a number of parties. Friday, Mrs. Bruce Brooks and her daughter Miss Jeanette Brooks gave a luncheon mingled with wedding bells. A corsage of white blossoms tied gold and white flowers inter-

Miss Anderson Becomes Bride Of Mr. Thompson

Clad in embroidered organdy combined with lace, Miss Patricia Ann Anderson was married August 9, in an evening ceremony, to Felton Thomas Thompson. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. M. Pace, of Choudrant.

and Clyde Anderson of Monroe. Mr. Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Thompson, of Choudrant. Reverend George Goodwin officiated in the Methodist Parsonage in Choudrant. The long torso bodice was fashioned with a rounded neckline and finished with a full skirt of ballerina length. A small cap of bands of velvet ribbons held her veil of illusion. A white orchid formed her bouquet.

Miss Sondra Anderson, of Monroe was her sister's maid of honor. She was dressed in a summer frock of blue with white trim. She carried a hand bouquet of white flowers. Eugene Aulds was the best man. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans and a blue linen sheath with a brief matching jacket. Her hat was white as were her other accessories. She wore a white orchid. On their return they will make their home in Choudrant.

Bride Cooks By Remote Control

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Newly-weds over the world seem to have a common problem: What to do when the girl can't cook? A newly arrived Turkish bride in Knoxville is coping with the situation by following a common solution: Asking mom's advice. The only trouble is Mom is a half-world away, but that is no obstacle either.

"Recipes? She mails them," explains Mrs. Ismail Ucar, waving a letter containing detailed recipes her mother sends almost daily from Smyrna, Turkey. At this point, her husband Dr. Ucar — a new intern at St. Mary's Hospital here — peeked into the boiling pot of pilaf (a rice dish) to see if his 17-year-old bride is following instructions.

Just in case things get out of hand he has fortified himself with a box of chocolates.

ding gift of silver marked the honoree's place. The other guests included Mrs. Graham Hughes, Miss Helen Theus, Mrs. George Weeks, Mrs. Warren Taylor, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale Jr., Mrs. Henry Bernstein and Mrs. Hugh McDonald, mother of the bride - elect.

Yesterday Mrs. Edgar N. Hemphill's compliment to Miss McDonald was a dessert bridge given in her home on Emerson St. A profusion of summer roses decorated the house for the party.

Her guests included with the honoree were Miss Sallie Oliver, Miss Diane Ducote, Miss Polly Riley, Miss Linda Hornbeak, Miss Martha Hatchell, Mrs. William Rhodes and Mrs. Hall Peyton.

Earlier in the week Mrs. W. E. Leigh and Miss Elizabeth Leigh were hostesses at a dinner party honoring the popular bride - elect. Pink blossoms decorated the house and the table carried out the "Smooth Sailing" theme with a unique and charming centerpiece. Soft pink blossoms, resembling frangi - pani, circled a blue lagoon of mirrored ripples upon which a catamaran of contentment sailed into the future. The place settings were marked with individual handcrafted cards fashioned in the form of miniature sailing boats.

Attending with the honoree and the hostesses were Mrs. Graham Hughes, Mrs. Wayne Woods, Mrs. William Rhodes, Mrs. Harry Morel, Jr., Miss Jo Marie Ellett, Mrs. Dent Tisdale and Miss Minette Smith.

MISS PEGGY Pierce and Miss Jane O. Williams meet with Mrs. Sehrod McLean to plan their pre-convention trip to Williamsburg and other points of interest enroute to the 8th Regional Conference of the Children of the American Revolution, meeting in Clemson, South Carolina, August 23-25th.

C.A.R. Officers Attend Regional Conference

Jane O. Williams, state president of the Louisiana Chapter of the Children of the American Revolution, Miss Peggy Pierce, president of Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society of the Children of the American Revolution with Mr. and Mrs. Sherod W. McLean plan a delightful trip through Kentucky and over to Williamsburg, Jamestown and Yorktown Virginia on their way to Clemson, South Carolina for the Eighth Regional Conference of the Children of the American Revolution, to be held from August 23 through 25th.

Among the delightful social features of the convention will be a swim party, a luncheon and a dinner dance. On Sunday the 24th, all delegates of the seven states, comprising Southeastern Regional will make a trip to Tamassee Mountain School.

Tamassee is one of the two mountain schools sponsored by the National Daughters of the Revolution and the National Children of the American Revolution Societies. Here, underprivileged mountain children can come and receive an education from elementary grades through college. This school is one of the many worthwhile achievements of these societies. The enrollment of this school is about two hundred.

Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society of the C.A.R. is happy to learn that they have won the Southeastern Regional Prize for the most new members received during the 1956-1957 year which ended on April 1.

Miss Linda Noe Is Party Honoree Saturday

Among the larger fetes being held this Saturday was the morning coffee given by Mrs. N. G. Gaston and her daughter, Mrs. John D'zhkar. The affair held in the Gaston home on the old Sterling road was honoring Miss Linda Noe, a bride-elect of this fall.

White summer blossoms were used throughout the home with an arrangement of ginger lilies, their foliage and white candles being featured in the living room, where Miss Noe, her mother, Mrs. James A. Noe, and the two hostesses received. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. Claude Earnest and assisting in receiving were Mrs. Clair Chennault, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr. and Mrs. W. J. Riley.

Alternately pouring coffee were Mrs. Ed Seymour and Mrs. DeWitt Millan. Their helpers were Miss Margaret Louise Taylor, Miss Emily Kay Ensminger and Miss Carolyn Dansby. Mrs. Amos Smelser served cokes from a near by table.

The guests, other than the honoree, included Heddames J. P. Brown, J. P. Miss Genevieve Ruth Wilson Is Married To Harry James Moresi, Jr., Vows Take Place At Home Of Parents

In a quiet home ceremony yesterday morning, Miss Genevieve Ruth Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Fitzhugh Wilson, became the bride of Harry James Moresi, Jr. M.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Moresi of Jeanerette.

The nuptials were solemnized before an improvised altar in the living room of the Wilson home on North Fourth Street with the Reverend Father Michael Hannon officiating. The vows were blessed by the Reverend James Marshall.

The mantle, with vases of white gladioli and stock, flanked by tall candelabra holding burning white tapers, created an altar effect for the ceremony said before members of the two families.

The bride entered the room with her father who gave her in marriage. She was wearing a suit of light gray raw silk with small hat of winter white. Her shoes and bag were gray and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Mr. Moresi was his son's best man.

Wedding Breakfast
Following the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Clifton Fynn and Mr. and Mrs. Hall Peyton were hosts at a wedding breakfast at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Placecards tied with miniature bags of rice named the guests seated at a long table on the porch of the club. Bridal arrangements of white flowers and bride and groom figurines were placed at intervals down the length of the table. Between these were bowls of green grapes, peaches and other seasonal fruits.

The guests, with the bridal couple were members and close friends of both families. They included Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Moresi, Miss Eva Moresi, Mrs. Earle Perret, of Jeanerette; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moresi, Paul Moresi Jr., Mr. and Franklin; Joseph Killeen, of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Fortenot of Metairie; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Landry, of Baton Rouge and from Mer Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin; Monroe guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Misses Mary Emma and Nancy Wilson, Mrs. Roy Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Hughes, Miss Minette Smith, Miss Shirley McDonald, Miss Jo Marie Ellett, Miss Lynda Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Hornbeak, Mrs. William Rhodes and Tommy Dansby.

Later in the day Dr. and Mrs. Moresi left on a wedding trip to Miami and Nassau. On their return they will be at home in Shreveport.

MRS. JAMES WILSON COOK

Ida Mae Antley, James W. Cook Pledge Troth By Candlelight

In a candlelight ceremony at 5.00 o'clock Saturday evening, August 17, at the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church in West Monroe, Miss Ida Mae Antley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Antley of West Monroe, became the bride of James Wilson Cook, son of Mrs. Iva Cook Creech and the late Wilson T. Cook of West Monroe.

Rev. A. T. Mitchell performed the double ring rites before an altar decorated with branched candelabras and large bouquets of white gladioli. Masses of ivy entwined the glowing candelabras. A white wedding bell hung from the baptistry. The pews were designed with white gladioli tied with white satin streamers.

As guests were being seated, candles were lighted by Miss Virginia Ann Antley, sister of the bride, and Jimmy Martin, while Miss Anna Rose Camp presented nuptial selections at the organ.

Mrs. Ed Bufkin sang "Through the Years," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of chantilly lace, with a sash and neckline outlined in seed pearls. The skirt was made of lace, peplum effect, with a float of misty tulle over satin. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a tiara covered with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William E. Bowman, twin sister of the bride, was attired in an afternoon dress of pastel pink chrysanthemum with round neckline and pink accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis similar to that of the bride.

Flower girl was Miss Patti Brown of West Monroe, wearing a gown of pastel pink chrysanthemum. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, also similar to that of the bride's.

MARIANNE BUCE

Miss Buce Joins Piano Faculty At Gulfport

Miss Marianne Buce, who was awarded the master of music degree this summer at Louisiana State University, will join the piano faculty at Gulfport College, Gulfport, Miss., at the opening of the fall semester.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Buce, of West Monroe.

Prior to entering LSU for graduate study, Miss Buce completed work for the bachelor's degree at Northeast State College, where she was a piano pupil of Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton, assistant professor of music. She also had studied with her during four years of high school.

Previous to that time she had been a piano pupil of Mrs. Dallas Goss and Miss Mary Grace Lawn, who presently is residing in New York City.

During her student life at Northeast State, Miss Buce received special recognition in her chosen field of work and she was active in organizations.

She received in 1954 the Music Faculty Award which is given annually to the most outstanding music major of the year. During that period she captured the title of Who's Who in Music, and her photograph appeared in both the "Who's Who" and "Beauty" sections of the college yearbook. She holds membership in the Music Educators National Conference and Phi Mu, national social sorority.

Matriculating at Louisiana State University, Miss Buce studied with Professor Carleton Liddle. As partial fulfillment of the master's degree, she was presented in piano recital.

The program included Bach's "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," Beethoven's "Sonata, op. 110," Debussy's "Lise Joyeuse," and "Ballade, op. 10" by Fauré. She was assisted during the last number by William Huckabay at the second piano.

Miss Joanne Gaster registered guests in the bride's book.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Johnny Barnes, sister of the bride and serving cake was Mrs. William L. King, sister of the bride.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Gaskin, of Jackson, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. William L. King and sons of Lake Charles, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bailey and daughter of Corpus Christi, Tex.

For traveling the bride wore a black suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside at 1311 Ridge Ave., West Monroe.

MISS JOHN ANN PAINICH

Miss John Ann Painich To Be Bride Of Patrick H. Anderson Late September Wedding Planned

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. John Painich, of West Monroe of the approaching marriage of their daughter, John Ann, to Patrick Henry Anderson.

He is the son of Mrs. J. C. Anderson and the late Henry Anderson. The ceremony will take place September 26, at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of West Monroe.

Miss Painich graduated from West Monroe High School and attended Northeast State College where she was a member of Phi Mu social sorority. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Irby and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Painich.

Mr. Anderson is a graduate of Neville High School and attended Southwestern and Kilgore Jr. College. He is the grandson of Mrs. Alma Thompson Hales and the late Albert Thompson and the late Mr. and Mrs. Garnet B. Anderson.

The bride-elect has asked Miss Dorothy Phillips to be her maid of honor and bridesmaids, Miss Loy Bass, Miss Barbara Byrd, Miss Truley Ann Chapman, and Miss Kathryn Painich. Miss Donna Rae Prager will serve as Jr. maid.

Joseph Nicholas Sutton will serve as best man and the groomsmen and ushers will be Prentiss Massey, Gary Huckaby, Mack Hunt and Eugene Dupuy.

A. A. U. W. Plan Program For Year
The Board of Directors of the A. A. U. W. met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Musselwhite, president of the association, to plan the coming year's program. The theme of the programs for the coming year is "Pioneers in Progress."

It will be divided as follows: "The Past, Our Heritage; The Present, Our Responsibility"; The Future "Our Hope". Programs for the year will be thus. The September meeting will be a membership tea when the president will speak briefly on "Keeping Our Purpose."

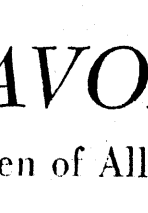

The October meeting will be a review of "Milestones; 75 Years in the History of A. A. U. W. In November "Exploring the Nature of the Legislative Program," will be the topic. The December meeting will center around the History of the Arts in A. A. U. W. A review of the Changing Roles of Women will furnish material for the January meeting. For February there will be an informative program on education. In March it is expected to have a nationally known speaker.

International Relations will be the April topic, and the year's work will close with the May meeting giving special emphasis on Fellowship and the unique achievements of the A. A. U. W. Fellowship program.

Officers and committee chairmen are as follows: Mrs. Jane Arnold, Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. P. L. Crowell, Mrs. Jake Humphries, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. H. B. McClelland, Mrs. Paul Smith, Mrs. A. L. Tatum, Mrs. J. P. Zoll and the hostess, Mrs. Musselwhite.

Cottonseed oil and soybean oil are chiefly used in hydrogenated all-vegetable shortenings; some view of the changing roles of women will furnish material for also used.

Laws-Jowers Vows Said At Nuptial Mass

St. Paschal's Catholic Church was the setting August 6 of the wedding of Miss Carolyn Joyce Jowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Jewel Jowers, and William Schumann Laws, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford Laws, Jr. The 6:30 a. m. ceremony was performed by Father Finnian, assistant pastor of the St. Paschal's Catholic Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white cotton lace over taffeta sheath, with a white linen jacket trimmed with matching lace. She wore a small white feather hat.

The bride wore a single purple orchid.

The bride chose as her only atendant her sister, Mrs. M. E. Joiner. The groom's only attendant was his brother, Charles Ford Laws, III.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jowers chose a black and white embroidered frock with white accessories. Mrs. Laws was attired in a pastel blue satin dress.

After the double ring ceremony, the wedding party, composed of close friends and members of the family, enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the bride's home. The couple left afterwards for a wedding trip to Shreveport.

On their return, Cpl. Laws left for Parris Island, South Carolina, for further duty with the marine corps.

The bride had attended St. Paschal's High School and graduated from West Monroe High School. The groom also attended St. Paschal's and graduated from Subiaco Academy in Subiaco, Ark.

Sorority Round-Up This Thursday

College women of all ages are looking forward to the Monroe City Panhellenic Party Thursday afternoon. Blue jeans and western attire will be the order of the day for the "Sorority Round-up" from two until four at the Harold Woods camp on the Arkansas road.

Guests of honor at the affair will be young women who are entering colleges having Panhellenic sororities on campus. Over one hundred invitations are in the mail this weekend.

Hostesses are members of the local Panhellenic. All regularly initiated members of college sororities affiliated with the national Panhellenic Conference are eligible to join the local group and to attend the party.

Mrs. Fred Heunefeld, Jr., is serving as transportation chairman for the round-up. Those needing a ride or desiring directions on how to reach the Woods camp are asked to call her.

The board of Monroe Panhellenic is composed of the following officers and sorority representatives: President, Mrs. Jack Taylor; Kappa Delta; vice-president, Mrs. O. A. Easterling, Jr.; Beta Phi; secretary, Mrs. James Ewing, III, Chi Omega; treasurer, Mrs. D. W. Griffith, Alpha Delta Pi; Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Phi Mu; Mrs. Paul Ransom, Delta Delta Delta; Mrs. Kent Anderson, Alpha Omicron Pi.

Also, Mrs. Ben Oliphant, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mrs. Jack Peat, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mrs. Gere Tharpe, Alpha Chi Omega; Mrs. Saul Mintz, Alpha Epsilon Phi; Mrs. Sylvester Breard, Delta Zeta; And Miss Hazel Mitchell, Alpha Gamma Delta; Miss Frances Baldwin, Delta Gamma; Mrs. Howard Lance, Theta Upsilon; Mrs. E. M. Stephan, Jr., Sigma Kappa; Mrs. Ralph Laws, Alpha Xi Delta; and Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Pi Kappa Sigma.

No Woman Is Old, Says Dior

CHICAGO — Christian Dior's formula for creating his vogue-setting fashions is based on simplicity, plus a beautiful woman, plus a flair for an idea.

Dior revealed his outlook on the world of fashion during his first visit to Chicago since his "New Look" was introduced in 1947.

He met fashion editors during a press conference aimed at opening the door to Dior's philosophy of fashion. A department store sponsored his visit and held a special showing of his 1957 spring "Liberty Line."

What is your recipe for a woman's beauty? he was asked.

"She must be simple, attractive with everything matching from head to toe," Dior said.

Do you think American women should tend to their beauty more than housework?

"It is more important to have beautiful women think of their beauty than housework," Dior said. "It is not fashion to wear the scarf on the head."

We noticed that you wear no jewelry—cuff links, pins or rings—don't you think jewelry is for men too?

"For women it is one of the most important features. For men it is not. I like to dress conservatively. When I make my little sketch, I always put the pearl in it."

Do you design dresses to make older women look young?

"There are no old women," Dior said.

What is the trend in color?

"I think black is getting less popular. It is necessary only for cocktail dresses."

What is your idea of a well-dressed woman?

"A woman dressed from head to foot has to put something of herself into it. Her own hat, maybe. It is the spice of fashion. I think she must have personality. I don't think it is good that a woman look like a fashion model."

Does a designer look at a woman's form and consider it just a "T" shape?

"The body is the criterion. You like to find a name, a symbol. I never have in mind anything but the woman's form," Dior said.

An American designer says your fashions are fit only for sausages and caterpillars. What do you say to that?

"I don't think it is very polite."

Are fashions becoming standardized because Dior is accepted as the top authority on fashion?

"I hope not," Dior said. "America has some very good designers."

Is it true that you work best while in a bathtub?

"I work every way. I like to relax in my bath because I am a very lazy man," Dior said. "I also like gardening because it is very relaxing. I also play canasta."

Which fashions are the most popular?

"I can't answer which fashions are the most popular among women. The slim lines and those with larger bustlines, possibly," Dior said.

What is your Oriental influence?

"It is inspired by sailors' suits and fishmongers' clothes. It is part of the new freedom in the 'Liberty Line.'"

Dior's new hemline is anywhere between the mid-calf and the ankle.

Candlelight Ceremony In New Hope Church Unites Miss Dillon And R. C. Whitten

In a 7 o'clock evening ceremony, August 10, Miss Dorothy Dillon became the bride of Rudolph Conrad Whitten. The Reverend Robert Louis Riggan, of Beaumonte, Ark., uncle of the bride, officiated. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins Dillon, of Jones, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Whitten, of Grayson.

Setting for the service was the New Hope Baptist Church in Jones. A white and lavender decor was noted in the church decorations. Baskets of white gladioli with background of palms and greenery were placed in the chancel. Graduated candelabra with cathedral tapers flanked the white arch topped with wedding bells, while candles burned in the windows of the church.

Mrs. D. Leon was pianist and Miss Bobby Germany was soloist, presenting traditional nuptial selections.

Miss Dillon was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a gown of creamy imported nylon tulle over lustrous satin. The pointed bodice, sleeveless and sculptured in a boat-shaped neckline, was dramatized by peau d'ange lace and rhinestones. The lace motifs were repeated in the waist-length skirt cut full circular at mid-length. The finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. The bride's bouquet was of stephanotis, centered with a white orchid arranged on a white Bible, a gift of the bride's paternal grandmother. She wore a single strand of pearls, a wedding gift of the groom.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Louis Crook, aunt of the bride, from Baton Rouge. Her frock was of violet silk organza over taffeta styled with a low V neckline and full circular skirt and tight fitting cummerbund. She wore a crownless picture hat of the same material and carried a bouquet in shades of orchid. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Tom Dillon, Mrs. Raymond Bullock, Miss Linda Dillon and Miss Gail McKoin, wore identical dresses in shades of lilac. Genevieve Cates acted as flower girl. Her frock was of orchid organza, and Tommie Dillon served as ring bearer.

Sidney Ray Scott, of Beaumont, Texas, was the best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Jimmy Dillon, Tom Dillon, William Harold Blue, Jr. and John Kovac, Jr. The candles were lighted by Miss Jackie McKoin and Kenneth Ray Kovac, cousins of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillon entertained with a reception at their country home near Jones. Mrs. Dillon received her guests in a gown of orchid lace with shoes and bag of the same shade. Mrs. Whitten, mother of the bridegroom, assisted Mrs. Dillon and wore mauve lace with harmonizing accessories. They both wore corsages of orchids.

The bride's table, covered with a linen cloth had for its centerpiece an arrangement of white carnations flanked by burning tapers in silver holders. The four-tiered cake supported by columns and ornamented with wedding bells was served by Mrs. John

'Period Or Contemporary?' A Question For Young Couples

Newly married couples always have a serious problem when it comes to furnishing their first apartment. Should they use "period" furniture and accessories or stick to the more timeless quality they can achieve with "contemporary" pieces? You can make a good case for either answer.

Furniture manufacturers are taking both points of view into consideration with their new designs. Period pieces are being styled with simple, useful beauty that allows them to be crossed with one another or with contemporary furnishings. And the more modern pieces are being designed for easy combination with antique, oriental or primitive accessories.

The best examples of this styling can probably be found in the useful new sofa-beds. Not long ago these pieces were monstrous. They have now been smoothed and slimmed down. Early American detailing in fabrics and legs has been combined with an ultra-modern innerspring mattress. Contemporary lines have been crossed with a wonderful oriental or South American covering. Brass ferrules highlight Provincial sleep-sofas, and deep-cushioned luxury humanizes a severe modern look. Such pieces certainly make the period-vs.-contemporary choice easier for the newly-weds. They allow for a certain amount of mind-changing.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Mrs. Ethel Berry Tullis of Lake Providence and Brody Carrington, of Marshall, Tex., were united in marriage at Oakland Plantation, home of the bride.

Rev. C. A. Martin, pastor of the Lake Providence Baptist Church officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The sacred and impressive rites were performed in a floral setting with Bobby Joe Tullis, son of the bride giving her in marriage.

Ring bearer was her grand daughter, Alice Jean Cooper, gowned in an all white costume of dotted nylon.

Mrs. Carrington wore a summer model of navy blue crepe with nylon lace insets and shoes to match. Her accessories were in a lighter shade of blue, and a shoulder corsage of white carnations completed her ensemble.

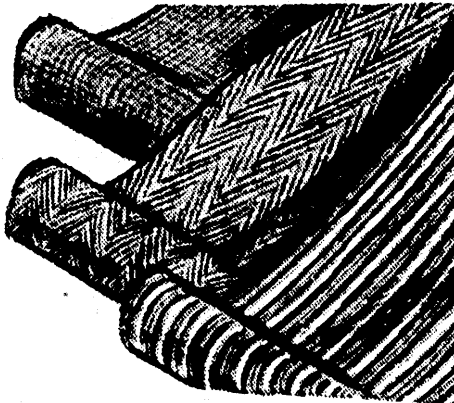

A reception immediately followed the ceremony, attended by immediate members of the family. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Bobb Joe Tullis, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cooper, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Martin.

On Saturday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Carrington left to spend a few days in Hot Springs, Ark. Later they will make a tour of California and visit relatives. Upon their return, they plan to divide their time between Oakland plantation, above Lake Providence and his home in Marshall, Tex., where he has business interests.

MRS. MICHAEL E. BARNETT

Miss Franks, Michael E. Barnett Exchange Vows In Ceremony Said In Fairbanks Presbyterian Church

Miss Sonya Kay Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Franks of Fairbanks became the bride of Michael E. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barnett of Brookhaven, Miss. in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 Saturday evening August 10 at the Fairbanks Presbyterian Church.

A myriad of white cathedral tapers illuminated the church chancel which was decorated with pedestals of Philippine lilies and greenery.

The Rev. Robert Shepperson performed the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Jane Gill, pianist. She accompanied Mrs. Beth Corley, soloist who sang "If I Could Tell You," "Because," and "Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was of hand clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The bodice was carved into a sweetheart neckline, with a magnificent center panel of Chantilly lace. The tulle skirt and chapel train were enriched by scattered applique. She wore matching mitts and carried a white Bible topped with red roses. A jeweled coronet secured her fingertip veil of illusion.

The bride's sister - in - law Mrs. W. A. Franks, was matron of honor. Her dress was of light pink crystalline over taffeta. She wore a matching bandeau embellished in seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white mums with white streamer. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Phillips and Miss Paula Gilbert. Their gowns were identical to the matron of honor's in a contrasting shade of pink crystalline and taffeta. Their bandeaux and bouquets also matched the honor attendant's.

The bridegroom's father, Mr. W. E. Barnett, served as best man. The ushers were W. A. Franks, brother of the bride, and Opie Greinn.

The candles were lighted by Miss Brenda Gill, who also wore a long pink dress, and the groom's brother, Glenn Barnett. Mrs. Franks, the bride's mother, chose for the wedding a dusty rose over taffeta sheath. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white mums.

The bridegroom's mother chose a blue eyelet embroidery complemented by matching accessories and a corsage of white mums.

Reception Held

A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The reception room was decorated with pink mums. The bride's table, overlaid with a white cutwork cloth was centered with the bride's bouquet and pink candles. At one end of the table was the three - tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Opposite the cake was a punch service presided over by Mrs. Carol Luther. Mrs. Ruth Brazzil served the cake.

Miss Johnnie Phillips presided over the guest book. Assisting in the courtesies at the reception were Mrs. E. H. Johnson, Mrs. L. C. Gill, and Mrs. Gladys Duke. Tea girls were Miss Charlotte Cunther and Miss Patsy Smith.

For a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride changed into a grey sheath, trimmed with white eyelet collar and cuffs. She wore a corsage of red roses from her bridal bouquet. Upon return they will make their home in Grove, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Northeast Louisiana State College, and will be teaching in the Grove Elementary school this fall.

The groom is a graduate of Brookhaven High School and will continue his studies at Lamar Tech.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilbert and Paula, of Minden; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith and Suzanne, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. McLeod, all of Vivian; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Price, of Bastrop; Mrs. R. A. Smith, and Patsy, Mrs. R. M. Gill, Brenda, and Bobby Louis, Miss Nancy Hinton, Tommy Hinton, and Mrs. Gladys Duke, all of Kelly; Mrs. Carol Luther of Shreveport; Miss Gloria Ford, of Waterproof; Mr. Opie Greinn, of Brookhaven, Miss.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Franks and Karl of Winnboro, and Mrs. Montie Sue Phillips of Harlingen, Texas.

PREVENT RAISIN "SINKERS"
SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — The California Foods Research Institute suggested this method for keeping raisins evenly distributed in making pound cake. Add ¼ teaspoon of cream of tartar to the basic 2 cups of flour recipe. The cream of tartar adds just enough "body" to the dough to keep the raisins from going to the bottom of the batter.

EMILY POST

Tactless People Do Exist

Best To Take Remarks Lightly

QUESTION: Will you please print something in your column about those people who always greet others with some unpleasant remark, and how to cope with them? I mean, for example, the person who upon meeting you says, "My but you've put on weight," or "How thin and drawn you look" or "That color gives you a very sallow complexion." I am sure you know the type I mean. Mrs. Post, I know that your comments on this will be of help to many people.

Mrs. Post: It is true that such unthinking tactless people do exist, but fortunately they are in the very great minority. The best thing to do is to take what they say lightly and say in the first instance, "I thought I was getting thinner" and to the second remark you might say, "I've been trying my best to lose weight," and to the third, "I thought the color so very becoming!"

Question: My husband has been asked to serve as godfather to a friend's child. I am invited to the christening, of course, but not to take part. Should the silver cup be engraved just from my husband or to include me too? Or am I supposed to give a little something extra?

Mrs. Post: The cup is from— and should be marked from—the godfather alone. But no additional present from you is necessary.

Question: For six years now I have visited occasionally with two girl friends whom I met shortly before my marriage five years ago. Neither of these girls are close friends of mine but they still keep in touch with me, inviting me to their houses, asking me to go to the theater with them, etc. I have two children now and live about eight miles from the girls. My husband and I have other friends and obligations and I have very little in common with these acquaintances. I have tried postponing our meetings which they still want to continue. Is there some graceful way to break off this relationship without hurt feelings?

Mrs. Post: Delay longer and longer in returning their invitations, and if they continue inviting you, you can more frequently have previous engagements that prevent your being able to accept.

QUESTION: My husband and I were invited to a wedding but I will not be able to go. Would it be proper for my husband to go without me or must he decline too?

Mrs. Post: It is usually the wife who has to drag her husband to a wedding, but if yours wishes to go even without you there is no reason he should not go alone.

Question: My husband and I do not agree as to what one should do with one's left hand while dining. Should it be on the table or in one's lap?

Mrs. Post: It may be either in one's lap or resting partly on the edge of the table.

QUESTION: I would like to know if it is permissible to eat cake in the fingers or must one always use a fork?

Mrs. Post: There is no reason for using a fork if the cake is dry and can be eaten in the fingers.

Question: Is it necessary to write thank-you notes to persons who brought food in at the time of my father-in-law's death. These individuals were thanked verbally at the time the food was brought in. A note of thanks was also published in the town newspaper.

Mrs. Post: Your appreciative thanks at the time are all that are required.

Question: I am having some writing paper marked for personal use. Should it be marked Mrs. John Smith or Jane Smith? I was wondering whether Jane Smith was appropriate for a middle-aged married woman.

Mrs. Post: Jane Smith is suitable only for a very young girl or a professional person well known simply as "Jane Smith." Paper to be used for all general purposes should be marked with your full name (Mrs. John Smith) and address; social paper should be marked with your initials or your home address.

Question: An issue has come up between my husband and me that we would like to settle. He says that it is wrong for me to speak first to a neighbor or a casual acquaintance of the opposite sex and that people will think I am flirting. I told him that I had been taught that it is a woman's privilege to speak first. He says he never heard tell of such a thing and that no lady would speak to a man unless he spoke to her, and then it was her privilege to recognize him or not as she chooses.

Mrs. Post: I'm very sorry to have to disagree completely with your husband. There is no rule such as he suggests. On the contrary, you are right. It is the woman who should speak first.

Where should the reception for friends be held after the christening? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-36, "The New Baby" describes the christening ceremony and reception. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Dash Of Fur Adds Fashion This Autumn

A dash of fur is a prime ingredient of fashion this fall. It needn't be a lot — in fact small fur accents will look newer than a whole fur coat this winter. It may be a hat, a belt, a handbag, a muff or even shoes. All of them come in fur-bearing versions this season, to add drama to a simple outfit.

One of the handsomest ways to add a fur touch to a costume is to get one of the big, dramatic new fur handbags you'll be seeing in the plushier shops soon. They come in all varieties of fur, from leopard to mink, and add a note of elegance to an untrimmed coat or suit.

They needn't even be in the luxury fur class to look important.

This year the smartest furs come in small doses.

DYED DUCKS

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Bird watchers are in for something new in the way of ducks this year.

Two flights of 200 mallard ducks each have been released in this state, one sporting bright pink wings, the other bright green.

The birds were given their unusual color schemes as part of a study of migration.

IT'S FUR . . . Chestnut calfskin and leather combine to make Joseph's sophisticated casual Italian import bag.

If you want heavy cream to beat well, have it well chilled.

Johnette Baker Becomes Bride In Church Rites

The Alabama Presbyterian Church formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Johnette Baker and John E. Upchurch recently. The officiant at the 8 o'clock ceremony was the Reverend Wave McFadden.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Baker, of Ruston and Mr. Upchurch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Upchurch, of Hilly.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, Texas, the newly married couple will live at 225 Thompson, St. Bossier City.

Fern trees and garlands of plumes and a single large basket of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, with slender white tapers burning in branched candelabra, formed the setting for the ceremony. Nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Jeanette Peshell, organist and Miss Mellicie Jeffcoats, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of French lace and tulle over slipper satin. The lace bodice was fashioned with scalloped sweetheart neckline and brief sleeves, and her elbow lace mitts were of lace. Tiers of lace and tulle formed the bouffant floor length skirt. Her veil of illusion, edged in lace, was held in place by a headress of ruffled tulle topped with valley lilies. The bride's only ornaments were a string of single pearls and tiny pearl ear rings, a gift of the groom. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid, tied with pearl and satin streamers. The maid of honor was Miss Sue Medaris, cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Miss Beltye Maxwell of Ruston, Mrs. Florence Johnston, of Shreveport and Mrs. Mary Dugdale, of Choudrant. Their identical dresses were of white organdy embroidered in pastel rosebuds. The honor attendant's dress was sashed in pink silk and her bouquet was a fan decorated with pink carnations and tied with pink satin ribbons. The bridesmaids wore sashes of green silk and their bouquets of pink carnations were tied with green ribbons. Judy Baker, another cousin of the bride acted as flower girl. She wore a frock of pale pink organdy and carried a basket of pink rose petals. In her hair was a bandeaux of pink blossoms.

Mr. Upchurch was his son's best man. Ronnie Baker, brother of the bride was ring bearer. The candle lighters and ushers were Don Macha and James Dugdale, Rev. Bud Terry, of Hilly, and Neil Hargrove.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors. Mrs. Baker chose for her daughters wedding a blue lace gown with which she wore blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Upchurch was wearing pink lace with tiers of the lace forming the skirt. Her shoes and bag were pink and she wore white ear-rings at her shoulder.

The bride's table, covered with a white organdy cloth held the bridesmaids bouquet for the center piece. The tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was at one end and the punch service at the opposite end. Mrs. Jewel Chandler served the cake and Miss La Verne Hyatt poured punch. The tea girls were Miss Mary Roselyn Pennell and Miss Judy Dugdale. Miss Sue Lane Pennell registered the guests in the bride's book.

For her wedding trip, the newly married Mrs. Upchurch traveled in a sheath dress of beige linen with shades of purple trim and harmonizing accessories and a white orchid.

FANCY WAY WITH FAT RAISIN
NEW YORK — (UP) — Most cooks use hot water to plump raisins before adding them to cakes or muffins. But for an unusual flavor, try plumping them with hot tea. Drain on a paper towel and cut in coarse chunks before adding to batter.

PEACH PIE-MAKING TIP
NEW YORK — (UP) — Bring out the flavor of one of summer's favorite desserts, fresh peach pie, by tossing the sliced peaches with a teaspoon or 2 of fresh lemon juice.

Pioneer Founders Of Chatham Meet For 100th Anniversary Celebration

By AUSTIN ABRAMS
Staff Writer

The year was 1857. The South had not yet been gripped and strangled by the war which was to come. Many men in the south were struggling against nature trying to wrest existence from the earth itself.

Georgia was as good a place as any for the battle it seems, but people everywhere often were captured by the urge to move on, looking for a better place, or just looking.

So were the Hearnes, the Shells, the Jordans, and Carrolls touched, and on November 10, 1857, the group combined and loaded into ox wagons before setting forth on a 45-day journey that was to take them to Jackson parish, Louisiana, in time for Christmas eve that year.

Hearnes Came First
The Hearnes had looked two years previous in 1855, and managed to stay long enough to start a cotton crop at the still-existent Brooklyn church, about eight miles east of Chatham.

The worms ate the cotton and sickness claimed one woman, Mrs. John Wesley Carroll. The Hearnes returned to their Georgia home in Campbell (now Fulton) County, 20 miles to the southwest of Atlanta. Farmers will tell you that their work gives them hope and so it must have been with the Hearnes. In 1857 they had finished a crop in Georgia and longed once more to return to Louisiana and Jackson parish.

Gathering some friends from the Cowata and Carroll settlements, the Hearnes decided to try once again to settle in the north Louisiana pine country. Perhaps it was the relation the terrain and soil had to their homeland, no one seems to know. But they came back.

Group Expands

This time the group had grown to some 40 people, three slaves among them, and their desire was pointed at making "a start" for themselves in a new environment.

A better time of year for wagon travel could well have been picked, and the spirit of these people is much to be admired.

At least one case of typhoid fever is reported to have been in the group. D. F. Shell, Winnfield, reports that his father was stricken with the dreaded disease for most of the trip.

Shell also points out that streams, swollen by the winter rains, made crossings treacherous and in some cases the caravan was held up for hours while the wagons were floated across the water.

Diary by Shell

A diary kept by Shell's grandfather records most of the events along the way, including the road log.

The group left Campbell (Fulton) County, Ga., passed through Carrollton, crossed the Alabama line at Bowden, Ga., and still moving southwestward, passed on through Talladega, Columbiana and Tuscaloosa, Ala., and entered Mississippi at Pikesville.

In Mississippi the travelers touched at Louisville, Kosciusko, Canton and paid $5 to ferry the Mississippi River at Vicksburg on Dec. 11, 1857.

After crossing Tensas River at Quebec (75 cent fee) the people went to the Bayou Mason and crossed at Dearfield. Note is made here that two steamboats went up the Bayou Mason in the night.

As near as can be ascertained, the caravan passed through Mer Rouge and reached Monroe on Dec. 21, where a record of supplies they bought was made. Bacon was 15 cents a pound, sugar, three gallons for 50 cents, and ferry fees on the Ouachita at Trenton, 71 cents per wagon.

They entered Jackson Parish Dec. 23 and camped in, out of the rain and snow, a Methodist Church at the Brooklyn settlement on Dec. 24, 1857, thus ending the journey.

A few people were reportedly already living in the area. The Hearnes found houses that they had used in the 1855 attempt. Some of the rest of the families had to build their homes from logs or pitch tents temporarily.

Many Names Lost

Many of the names are forgotten or were never recorded. In the memory of some of the descendants are:

Lucinda Jordan, widow who married John Wesley Carroll back in Georgia after Carroll's wife died on the first trip.

Joshua Shell, grandfather of D. F. Shell, and Mrs. James Ballard Hearn, widow and mother of Oliver Fletcher Craton, and Howell Hearn who also came.

The Hearn family had some grandchildren and the Shell family had seven children.

Jack Jordan, father of Miss Della Jordan of Chatham and three of her uncles, William, Jim, and Parx Jordan were also among the group.

Today, hundreds of the descendants are expected to gather at Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church, about eight miles southeast of Chatham, for the "100th Wagon Train Celebration." This will mark the first celebration of the pioneering trip.

You could expect many a tale to be related when the group assembles today. Probably many of the people living have not seen each other in many years. Some may meet for their first time even though they bear close blood kinship.

Whatever the events that unfold there, we might pause and note that such spirit as that of the Hearnes, Shells, Carrolls and Jordans, when they made their trek from Georgia, was the type of spirit that has given us the things we so enjoy today.

Trooper House Places First In Shot Contest

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — State Trooper John House of Lake Providence was first place winner in the tyro class (quick draw shooting) at the recent convention of Louisiana Peace Officers.

Trooper House is a member of State Pistol Team, No. 1, which won first place in the state.

East Carroll Parish Sheriff J. W. Gilbert placed 8th in the state on the quick draw at 15 feet, and 9th in precision shooting at 25 yards.

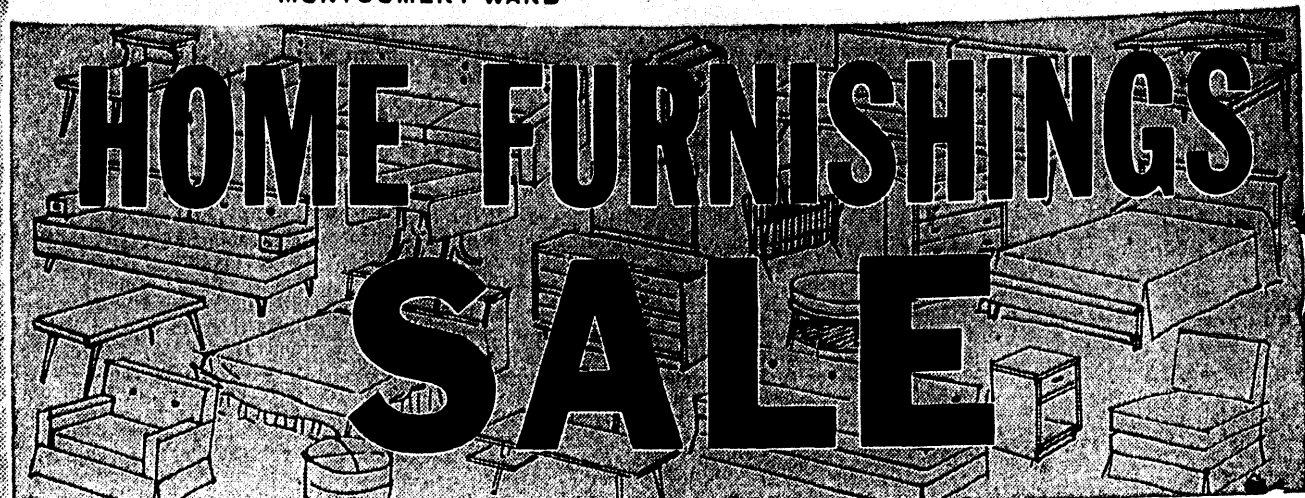

Both Gilbert and House expect to participate in two other shooting contests to be held later in the year, one at New Iberia on September 27th, and the other at Monroe at November 11th.

The Simplan tunnel through the Alps between Switzerland and Italy is 12 miles long.

150 YEARS AGO

Strange Vessel Moved Into Hudson River As Robert Fulton Made History

(Editors Note: One hundred fifty years ago a strange vessel moved into the Hudson River off Manhattan and made history with every turn of its creaking paddle wheels. Here is the story of Robert Fulton and the famous voyage of his Clermont.)

By HOWARD BENEDICT

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Most of the 100 or so persons gathered on the West 10th St. pier were loafers or curiosity seekers. A few came to scoff; a few friends prayed for success.

They all saw history made that day in August, 1807.

The crowd had gone to watch the launching of one of the strangest boats ever to ride in the Hudson River. The first look was terrifying enough—for clouds of black smoke and sparks shot from the skinny smokesack in the center of the 150-foot craft.

"She'll never make it," said one sideline skeptic. "Who ever heard of a ship that big driven by steam?"

"The way that boiler is acting up she'll explode before she leaves the dock," said another. "It's a crazy scheme, Fulton's folly."

But Robert Fulton was confident his boat, the Clermont, would succeed where so many others had failed. Conspicuous in a tall bear hat and a blue-skirted coat, he hurried busily about the boat, giving the crew last minute instructions and trying to allay the fears of his 40 passengers, most of them friends and relatives.

Finally, he gave the order to cast off, and the Clermont's bulky and formidable engine shuddered violently as it built up steam for the 150-mile run to Albany.

Slowly the odd looking craft pulled into midstream and churned north against the current. And as the bright vermilion paddles of the side wheels bit repeatedly into the water on this warm Aug. 17, a few persons cheered lustily. Those who had predicted failure stared in disbelief.

The cheers were stilled quickly as suddenly, only a few hundred feet upstream, the Clermont's engine suddenly, shook furiously and stopped.

The current caught the crippled boat and carried it downstream—past the dock where the crowd hooted and jeered. Fulton ordered the anchor dropped.

He told his nervous passengers "I do not know what is the matter, but if you will be quiet and indulge me for half an hour, I will either go on or abandon the journey."

The passengers sat restlessly as Fulton worked feverishly over the engine. Then, with the half hour running out, he discovered what he described later as a "slight maladjustment in the machinery which in a short time was obviated."

More wood was fed to the fire, the engine was started and the Clermont chugged and splashed her way upstream. The passengers and the crowd on the pier let loose a mighty roar. The sea-going world was on the even of a tremendous revolution.

Why had Fulton only 42, succeeded where so many others had failed?

The answer is that Fulton had a special genius for turning the mechanical idea of other men into a practical finished product. He had done this in inventing many minor machines and he had nearly converted the plans of others into a successful submarine.

At least 15 steamboats had been built in America before the maiden voyage of the Clermont. Others had been built abroad. Fulton had demonstrated a steamboat in France in 1803. But none of these could carry passengers and, therefore, were not practical.

Fulton gained the financial backing of Robert R. Livingston, chancellor of the state of New York and U.S. minister to France, and with almost unlimited capital he devoted four years to the development of his boat. He carefully studied the work of others and experimented with many small models before he finally built the Clermont.

SHAGGY-BROWED MAN

Hess, Once Confidant Of Hitler, Is Far Cry Today From Once-Proud Nazi Leader

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The shaggy-browed man... in the green fatigues hardly glanced up when the Russian soldier seized his arm. Mumbling, he was half-led half-dragged to the vegetable patch.

Then, as he has done for the last 10 years behind the towering red walls of Berlin's Spandau Prison, he hoped and began to pull weeds.

In 1937 this is Rudolf Hess, once deputy fuhrer of Nazi Germany and the dread "shadow" of Adolf Hitler.

Hess, at 63, is a haggard, hollow-eyed remnant of the handsome Nazi fanatic whom Hitler named as his successor after Hermann Goering. Despite his physical deterioration, Hess has lost none of his air of mystery.

To his jailers in the four-power Spandau war crimes prison, Hess remains the enigma, the star gazer, the strange one carrying behind his dark brooding eyes answers to questions that still tease historians.

On the night of May 10, 1941—as Hitler's triumphant armies stood poised on the French coast looking toward England—Hess astounded the world by parachuting out of a Messerschmitt 110 into Scotland.

According to the official British version, Hess, who learned to fly in World War I, said he had come over on a "mission of humanity." He wanted to convince the British they had lost the war and should make peace immediately.

Churchill accepted Hess' statement that he made the flight on his own initiative. He wrote of it later as an "escapade" of no importance to the course of the war.

Josef Stalin disagreed. The Russian dictator said in a speech Hitler had tried to rally the United States and Britain in a "crusade" against Russia and the "notorious Hess" was sent to England as part of the plot.

As for Hitler, observers in Berlin tended to discount reports that Hess went to Britain on Der Fuhrer's secret orders. Hitler seemed enraged by the episode. He ordered the name of Hess, once his inseparable confidant, blotted from the public record.

Explained the German Foreign Office: "The deputy fuhrer became 'the victim of hallucinations,' one with 'the fixed idea' that he was a sort of messiah who by a spectacular individual gesture, could bring about the termination of hostilities."

In October 1946, Hess' mission did not deter the Allied war crimes tribunal at Nuernberg from sentencing him to life imprisonment on the counts of plotting against peace, and planning, inciting and carrying through aggressive war.

Today within Spandau's secretive walls, a prison source who observes Hess nearly every day says the former Nazi leader lives in a morose dream world.

"He no longer takes an interest in politics. I believe he wants to forget the past. He won't read newspapers or books, except those on astrology which he reads avidly."

For more than a decade he has declined visits by his wife, son or other relatives, saying, "My family shall see me again only under normal circumstances."

Hess' cellmates often are awakened at night by his wild outcries. He usually complains of abdominal pains or the light which prison rules require be flashed on in every cell every two hours to guard against suicide attempts.

Bancroft Tells Of Hunting In Kenya Colony

By MARY ANNE CORPIN Staff Writer

Four men—two white, two Negro—making their way through the Tana river jungle in Kenya, Africa... high grass and thick foliage block their view of what is ahead... then, suddenly, they hear the trumpeting sound made by cow elephants.

Their scent has traveled to the herd of elephants beyond them near the river. Ten to 15 cow elephants begin a charge toward the hated scent of man. With their excellent sense of smell, but poor eyesight, the animals thunder past the white men, who have edged 20 feet away from the "scent line" into the bushes.

The Negroes have "walked" up trees, in their highly skilled way of climbing. The elephants turn, and trample back through the underbrush again, as the white men push through the foliage, working their way back in the direction they came from.

'Hide and Seek' The charges, the moves by the men, the life and death game of "hide and seek" continues for 30 minutes that seem like two hours to the two trapped men. Then, finally, they lose the elephants and are again in safe territory.

T. O. Bancroft and his guide, Charlie Pearson, glance back with relief at the thick jungle which encloses the herd—then make their way back to their campsite. Within a few minutes, their Negro tracker and porter walk through the high grass into the camp.

It could have turned out otherwise—the elephants, which don't mind the scent of natives, go wild at the scent of white man, and trample down everything in their path in search of the "intruders." They go right through wait—a bit thorn bushes, whose extremely tough thorns are shaped like small fishhooks, and cannot be torn loose from clothing.

In Kenya Province Bancroft, the president of the Bancroft Bag Factory Inc., and chairman of the board of the Bancroft Paper Co., Inc., in West Monroe, La., with H. Luther Brown, of San Antonio, Texas, were on a safari in Africa, in the rolling hill country of Kenya province.

Pearson, a good-looking 30-year-old white native of Kenya, was Bancroft's guide, and Bunny Allen, a native Englishman and white hunter for 25 years, was the safari manager and Brown's guide.

Allen, an expert at his work, and his wife, led the safari for the movie, "Mogambo," and the picture's gun bearer, "Kukunya," worked as hunter and tracker during Bancroft's month in Africa.

"Kukunya" means caterpillar in the native language. He's a wonderful hunter, and weaves through the high grass like a caterpillar, when he's tracking game. So the others in his tribe gave him that name," Bancroft explained.

One of 22 natives with "Hess" was of 22 natives with his safari. Bancroft added, "We had left the United States on Monday, August 27, 1956, and went by air 12,000 miles to British East Africa, stopping at London, Rome, Athens, and Khartoum, before we landed at Nairobi, Kenya Colony, on August 29."

"It took two days to be cleared through customs. Then, on September 1, we chartered a small plane, and flew northeast, to Garissa, and a camp six miles north-east of there, on the Tana river."

The natives in the area belonged to the Kikuyu tribe, and the hunters promised Milemu, the chief, a small reward if they were informed when a large-tusked elephant was sighted in the area.

Soon, the weird, thudding sound of the drum signal passed up the river, and one group of natives after another relayed the message that an unusually large-tusked elephant had been seen.

Use British Jeep The hunters climbed into an English landrover, the British version of a four-wheel drive jeep, and headed for the elephant's location. They ground through the earth, past acacia and mimosa trees, and all types of thorn bushes.

The African sun blazed down from its noon position. In a thickly enclosed area, beneath shade trees, the elephant sought refuge from the mid-day heat. Twenty yards away, jungle growth hid the animal from sight.

The hunters approached carefully, then saw the elephant. It took the exceptional penetration power of a solid .458 bullet weighing 500 grains, fired from a Winchester model 70 bolt-action rifle to bring down the huge animal. Its huge ivory tusks, weighing 80 pounds, reached more than six feet long.

The day before that, Bancroft brought down a six-ton elephant, with tusks weighing 60 pounds each.

Rhino Charges Ten days later, at the Kinna camp, 140 miles further northeast, Bancroft came within 25 feet of being gored by an old, large, tough-skinned rhinoceros.

Forty yards from the animal, Bancroft fired the first shot. The rhino turned and charged downwind, passing on the right side of the hunter. Four shots failed to halt it, and like the elephants with poor eyesight and good sense of smell, the rhino again got the scent of man, and whirled about, starting a second charge.

CHARGING RHINO HALTED WITHIN 25 FEET—This old, tough rhinoceros was halted less than 25 feet away from Bancroft, who had to reload his rifle to finish the animal which was charging at him.

Twenty-five feet away, Bancroft reloaded his .458, and the 4,000 pound horned beast finally fell, in the waist high grass on the edge of the Tinga Tinga Makubwa, which is Swahili dialect for "large swamp."

In Kenya, the sun rises and sets rapidly, with the effect of a shade being raised or lowered. At sunset on September 17, on the day that the rhino charged him, the hunter got a 500 pound, large, black-maned male lion, measuring 10 feet long.

The only way through the thick bushes was on game trails, and the men approached the animals on an "out-going" trail. They found two large male lions, and aimed at the largest. It fell, 120 yards away, after three shots were fired.

On the way back to camp, Bancroft got a surprise—a quarter mile from the camp-site, the porters and trackers began singing the "Lion Song," part of a ritual after the killing of a lion. The 18 porters in camp heard the song, and joined in, meeting the group as they returned with the dead lion. The hunters were then hoisted onto the porters' shoulders, and carried around camp, through the progress of the ritual.

Five Top Animals "While at the Kinna camp, we got three lions, two black buffalo, one rhino, and one leopard. Those and the elephant are the five top animals desired by hunters," Bancroft related.

The camp was composed of a sleeping tent, another tent where the men ate, and a kitchen tent, where the cook fixed the food. Bancroft and Brown had taken two rifles, one shotgun, ammunition, and three suits of khakis each with them. Everything else was supplied by the guides.

The cook prepared meals from the animals and birds which the men shot, and two refrigerators kept the food fresh.

"Each of the 22 porters had one job, for example, one kept the tanks on the two hunting vehicles and two trucks filled, and each hunter had two gunbearers, two skimmers, and a tent boy, who kept the tent and clothes clean," Bancroft revealed.

Quick Laundry "If we wanted something washed immediately, we put it on the ground in the tent—that was the signal for the tent boy to take it and start washing."

At night, they were never bothered by insects. A fire was kept burning throughout the night, and the natives slept at intervals on the ground. Everyone was asleep when the "pride" (family) of lions walked through the camp one night, attracted by hides.

Their tracks were found the next morning, within 15 feet of Bancroft's and Brown's tent.

"Lions with their full physical capacity are not dangerous, since they can catch smaller animals for food. The old lions, which cannot capture animals, turn on natives for food, and become man-eaters. A man-eater was at large near our camp at Isola, north-east of Nairobi," Bancroft explained.

No Accidents The group was fortunate—no one was hurt, and no accidents took place. They sighted one small snake, and several large scorpions, which are the same size as Louisiana crawfish, and are red in color. They carefully avoided the scorpions, whose sting causes grave illness, and sometimes death.

They passed two forts established by the British police, in the Mau Mau territory, but came upon only friendly natives. Amanyatas—native villages of the Samburu and Turkana tribes—were sighted. Huts made of grass and sticks, with grass mats on the ground, were the homes of these nomadic people, who roam throughout the dry area in search of food for their goats, sheep, cattle, camels and donkeys.

Pierce Cattle Veins During the dry season, which lasts through half the year, the only vegetation which is raised is near the Tana river. The natives who roam with their flocks pierce the veins of grown cattle, draw off blood, half the flow of blood, and mix it with milk, forming a basic diet. Each animal goes through the process only about once every two weeks, since the tribes are very wealthy in numbers of cattle.

All cooking is done outside the huts, and they have very few cooking utensils—except for tea-

TOO TIGHT IS CHARGE

But In 10 Years World Bank Has $254 Million In Profit

By MARK EMOND

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—In its first 10 years the World Bank has rung up a profit of 254 million dollars while just doing its job—helping nations get on their economic feet.

It makes the proud claim that would be the envy of any bank: no borrower has missed a payment. Since 1947 the bank has made 166 loans totaling more than three billion dollars in 44 countries.

This capitalistic institution, officially called the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, counts among its 63 member nations—its stockholders—a number of Socialist countries and one Communist nation, Yugoslavia. The Communist bloc, including the Soviet Union is absent by its own choice.

They came upon Euphorbia trees—beautiful and deadly with smooth, light-green bark, and limbs which hang down like weeping willows. Allen and Pearson warned them that the leaves constantly drip a poisonous liquid and almost instant neous blindness could result if the juice of the tree got in their eyes.

The hunting party carefully made a wide path around the tree and left it behind, part of the wilderness of the jungle.

They came near 100-foot-tall fig trees, some nine feet in diameter. High in the branches, baboons perched, eating the figs.

Fires Dance Patterns At night, as the camp fire danced a pattern on the tents, bushes and surrounding trees, after-dark noises thrived across the jungle. If "ing prides of lions roared, as males went to work frightening meals of zebras. The males worked their way to a point upwind from the zebras, and when the frightened beasts whirled and raced in flight from the lion, they ran straight into the teeth and claws of the female lion, crouched in wait.

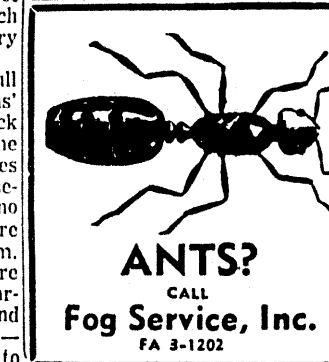

Hyenas howled and laughed coarsely in the darkness, as they prowled about the camp, sniffing at the hides and meat. Hyenas, small rabbit-like animals, unseen in hollow trees, added their strange noises to the night-chant. Throughout the trip, both Bancroft, who was on his first safari, and Brown, former president of the Brown Paper Co., who was on his second, carried small 35 mm cameras, with 30 pictures to a roll. They took a roll each day, placed them in sealed cans, and had them made into color slides.

"The cameras were small, and had little weight, so they did not interfere with our rifles—which we have to have with us at every minute," Bancroft noted.

Back in Nairobi, it took one full day to clear through the customs' rifle inspection. A careful check was made, to be sure that the men were bringing back the rifles that they had arrived with—severe penalties exist for those who lose their rifles in territory where the killer Mau Mau bands roam. Within two days, they were ready to board the plane for Khartoum. The trophies—hides and heads of animals and birds—were left with a taxidermist, to be stuffed and mounted.

"It takes a full year to dry and prepare some of the skins. They probably will be shipped to us this fall, and will then be placed in the Cheniere Brake Camp which is maintained for employees of the Bancroft Company."

SOUTHEASTERN, NSC

Dormitory Bids Meet Approval

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Louisiana Board of Education approved low bids today totaling $2,471,799 for new dormitories and dining facilities at Southeastern Louisiana College and Northwestern State College.

The board was in no hurry to act and smoothed out all fiscal issues involved. It heard member Robert Curry of Shreveport assert original plans were "75 per cent above available funds."

Members delayed action a month ago on the Southeastern blueprints, because they called for more spending than the board had available in approved federal loan funds.

"It looks like architects are designing facilities out of keeping with what we're trying to do," Curry said. "We want comfortable living quarters for students—not hotels."

Curry said architects should quit turning in fancy designs for college dormitories, trying to gain recognition in architectural journals, because "there's a limit to what we can ask the taxpayers to pay."

Obtained Approval—Southeastern already has obtained approval of a federal loan, in which the Hammond College will issue revenue bonds, backed by dormitory rentals, with the federal government picking up the bonds at the low interest expense to the college of only 2.75 per cent.

The board approved the $668,145 low bid of George Caldwell, Baton Rouge, for two men's dormitories, and his $370,654 low bid for building a women's dormitory at Southeastern.

Because loan funds were insufficient to cover original planning, the board rejected bids for a married students' union at Southeastern. But it cleared the way for the college president to seek new bids for a reduced project, more in line with the $24,175 in available funds he has.

Board members also approved $1,433,000 in construction work at Northwestern State, Natchitoches, for which federal loan funds must be obtained. The low bids are approved.

1. Werner Co., Inc., Shreveport, $1,131,900 for a male dormitory, a women's dormitory and a dining hall.

2. Carl Pons Electrical Co., Shreveport, $24,880 for electrical work.

3. Roland Construction Co., Alexandria, $63,000 for water, sewage and steam lines.

4. Buckelew Hardware Co., Shreveport, $59,445 for fixed kitchen equipment.

Other construction expenses are involved and some state funds will be required.

In other action during the special meeting, the board:

1. Voted acceptance of the new Orleans Negro Trade School completed under supervision of the State Building Authority.

2. Authorized President Joel L. Fletcher of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette, to request the Board of Liquidation of State Debt for $98,000 to blacktop a parking area, aircondition a new biological services structure and pay for other campus work.

3. Heard a report by President W. N. Cusic of McNeese State College, Lake Charles, that insurance adjusters had agreed to pay $13,000 for Hurricane Audrey damage to the women's dormitory.

Flaming Gas Causes Death Of Young Girl

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (UP)—A 3-year-old girl died today of burns suffered when her father accidentally threw a pan of flaming gasoline on her.

Evelyn Kazian had been taken to Misericordia hospital Friday night with second and third degree burns of her entire body.

The father, George, 38, told police he was heating the gas over the kitchen stove to clean paint brushes when it ignited. He went to the back door and hurried the flaming liquid out, unaware his daughter was coming up the steps.

Kazian suffered burns of both arms and his chest beating out the child's flaming clothes.

This Afternoon
If You Really Want To SAVE On A
'57 FORD!

NOW'S A GOOD TIME TO BUY!
HERE'S WHY:—

Fact No. 1
1958 model cars will cost you more money because of steel and material price increases—the value of your present car will decrease as soon as 1958 cars are on the market.

Fact No. 2
McCain-Richards' Record Buster Sales Drive is now in full swing, as we strive to sell 133 new Fords in our last month under the old name. This means
BIG money saving deals for you.

Fact No. 3
You'll enjoy switching to a '57 Ford—like so many owners of medium priced cars are doing. Action test one and see.

See McCain-Richards

ROSELAWN
IT'S CENTRALLY air conditioned . . . it's just 3-years-old and it's "in the trees" . . . not only does it have a good value . . . but it has a lot of space! (3) bedrooms with sliding door closets; spacious tile bath; central heating; luxurious oak floors throughout; a wonderfully arranged 10'x18' kitchen; 8'x18' screened porch on east side opening off kitchen carport and storage area; and a 75' ten-stud lot with fenced back yard. It's vacant and only $1,350 down buys it!

EASON PLACE
HERE'S THE beautiful home on the Northside in a one-year-old brick! Air conditioning, built-in refrigerator, built-in tub and shower enclosure, central heating . . . aluminum screens and windows . . . a spacious and wonderfully arranged 10'x17' paneled kitchen . . . copper pipes . . . carport and storage . . . fenced back yard and a 60' lot less than 3 blocks to Lexington Grammar! It's vacant!

BETIN
HERE'S A swell new listing that's already financed with a 4 1/2% loan! It contains the following features among its 1100 sq. feet: (3) unusually large bedrooms . . . sparkling tile bath . . . central heating . . . nice size 14'x16' living room . . . unusually arranged 10'x21' kitchen and dining area . . . has chain-link fenced back yard . . . carport and storage and 67' lot on paved street. Monthly notes only $60.30. We'll gladly show today.

GERALD
LOOKING FOR a 2 bedroom and a den in "COLLEGE TOWN"? If so, here's a swell one! It possesses 1000 sq. feet . . . (2) roomy bedrooms and 12'x13' central heating . . . nice size 14'x16' living room . . . unusually arranged 10'x21' kitchen and dining area . . . has chain-link fenced back yard . . . carport and storage and 67' lot on paved street. Monthly notes only $60.30. We'll gladly show today.

KENTUCKY
IT ALL begins with a 150'x150' corner lot that's meticulously landscaped . . . any you'll ever see, and on this lot is a wonderfully arranged 1220 sq. foot home with: (2) bedrooms (one's 12'x24); 12'x21' living room with fireplace; dining room; gleaming oak floors; spacious 10'x16' kitchen; screened 10'x14' porch off kitchen with washer and dryer connections; carport and a garage. Here's wonderful value that only $700 down on FHA buys.

McGUIRE
HERE'S ONE that's hard to beat! It's on a beautiful 70' lot . . . has (2) bedrooms . . . forced air heating . . . nice size living room . . . copper pipes . . . attic fan . . . carport and storage . . . wonderful 12'x32' screened porch across rear of home which could easily be made into den . . . these features and more, and we'll gladly show today!

EASON PLACE
HERE'S a new listing that's "gang-up" value for only $600 down on FHA! It has: (2) unusually large bedrooms (one's 13' x 15'x11') . . . forced air heating . . . part tile bath . . . copper pipes . . . (2) air conditioning units . . . nice size 8'x16' kitchen . . . well-proportioned living room . . . screened porch and it's on a 67' lot with curbs and gutters. We'd be glad to death to show you today!

CIVIC
HERE 'tis . . . that (2) bedroom and den brick home with tile bath on the Northside at an extremely reasonable price! It possesses: 1300 sq. feet of living area . . . prettiest oak floors in town . . . central heating . . . a sparkling paneled den . . . copper pipes . . . tile bath . . . (2) bedrooms . . . (2) bedrooms (smallest is 12'x14') . . . 1 1/2 tile baths, it's central heat, attic fan, hardwood block floors, 12'x14' paneled kitchen with excellent cabinet space and a 6' disposal. There's also a 12'x16' porch in rear!

FREDERICK
HERE'S a new listing that combines the following features. Among its 1200 sq. feet (3) nice size bedrooms . . . tile bath . . . Stunning 10'x17' Kitchen with spacious cabinet space . . . Central heat has separate dining area . . . built-in Air Conditioner . . . has carport and 75' lot . . . only 1 year old and financed with 4 1/2% loan.

VALENCIA
ANOTHER NEW listing and a fine one! It begins with a nicely landscaped area 120' lot . . . 1884 sq. feet of living area . . . Double carport and 10' x 22' Screened porch on rear . . . (3) bedrooms . . . (2) baths . . . 14' x 22' living room . . . separate 10'x14' dining room . . . Oak floors and wonderful 16'x22' Den with glass wall overlooking back yard. IT'S VACANT!

BACKBONE OF THE BOOM: Thousands of workers imported for the St. Lawrence Seaway and power projects are bursting the social and economic seams of northern New York communities. But Massena, N. Y., has found they make good citizens.

School To Open August 28

JENA (Special) — First official day of school for the 1957-58 session in LaSalle parish has been set for Wednesday, August 28, according to an announcement this week from F. H. Shiel, parish superintendent.

However, students will not report to their classes until Thursday, August 29 — and then for only half a day, Mr. Shiel added.

Opening day — Aug. 28 — has been set aside for a teachers' workshop during the morning at Jena high school, followed by a meeting of the LaSalle parish Teachers association at Jena High school in the afternoon, Shiel said.

Report To School
School busses will report to their various schools for the first time on Thursday, August 29, with a full day's schedule being run off in half a day. The lunchrooms will not be open on Thursday, Shiel said.

The first full day of school for the 1957-58 session will be held Friday, August 30.

And, after attending school Friday, August 30, the students will fall heir to a holiday the following Monday, September 2, which is Labor day.

The following Tuesday, September 3, students will report back to their classes and schoolwork will get down to earnest, Mr. Shiel stated.

Scheduled Holidays
The superintendent also announced scheduled holidays as follows: Monday through Wednesday, November 25-27; Louisiana Teachers Association meeting in Shreveport; Classes will be dismissed and all parish teachers will be urged to attend the state LTA convention.

Thursday and Friday, November 28-29: Thanksgiving holidays. (The Thanksgiving holidays, coupled with the teachers' convention, will give the students a full week off from classes.)

Christmas — New Year's vacation: Classes will be taught through Friday, December 20. Schools will re-open for classwork Thursday, January 2, 1958.

Easter: Classes will be taught through Thursday, April 8. Classes will be resumed Tuesday, April 8. This will give the students Friday, April 4 and Monday, April 7, as Easter holidays.

The closing date of school for the 1957-58 session has not been definitely set, Shiel announced.

In the last five years the value of the watermelon crop in the United States has risen from $30 million to $43,500,000.

Modern 'Boom Town' Short On Night Life

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — Money men and machines have pushed wine, women and song into the background in this northern New York boom area.

Billion-dollar St. Lawrence Power and Seaway construction has this once-quiet community over-populated by the influx of workers, swirling in a new economy and thriving in the dust of multiton, land-minning machines.

Billion-dollar St. Lawrence Power and Seaway construction has this once-quiet community over-populated by the influx of workers, swirling in a new economy and thriving in the dust of multiton, land-moving machines.

Massena and its river neighbors are bursting at their economic and social seams.

This transformation prompts many to label the village a boom town, but the natives deny the name.

"Boom town connotes a honky-tonk, rowdy, disorganized situation," says Roger P. Hansen, youthful executive secretary of the Massena Chamber of Commerce.

"Expanding Economy"
"We would rather you referred to our good fortune as a rapidly expanding economy."

Massena's economy began its "rapid" expansion in 1954 when, after years of talk, final approval was given the St. Lawrence power and seaway projects. Although work on the seaway was delayed until the spring of 1955, and assured power to Alcoa's reduction plant. The company will spend about 125 million dollars to expand facilities.

Milk, on the other hand, is suffering from a manpower shortage.

As one farmer put it: "I just can't compete with those construction and industrial wages. The day of paying a fellow $50 a month and board is gone in this part of the country."

The dairy farmer's plight won't be eased after construction days end.

Because of the prospect of cheap and abundant power, the Reynolds metal company, and the Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp. have broken ground for

Right Foot Of Shock Victim Is Amputated

VICKSBURG (Special) — Billy Fryer, 25-year-old lineman for Louisiana Power and Light Company, yesterday was improving after his right foot was amputated Friday.

Fryer leaned against a conductor carrying 8,000 volts of electricity Tuesday while working on a transformer on another pole at Mounds Gin at Mound.

Fryer leaned against the conductor, his neck touched the live wire and the charge shot through his body coming out through the climber on his right foot.

The right leg was removed three inches below the knee. Fryer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fryer of Eppps.

plants in nearby Roosevelttown. Reynolds is spending 88 million dollars and the automobile plant will cost 12 million.

Other companies are scouting sites.

There is a general feeling that when the construction boom is over, many workers will settle down and seek employment in the new industrial center.

One man who hopes to make Massena his permanent home after 16 years with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is Harvey Day.

"I have made application to remain here with the corps when work is completed," he said. "My wife and family love this country and we feel it is about time we settled down, anyway."

Day said many other men had the same feeling.

When all of the dams are sealed, including the main power project structure at Barnhart Island, 38,000 acres in the United States and Canada will be under water. The Barnhart powerhouse, which will be the second largest energy producing unit in the world, will spin out 2.2 million horsepower from 32 super generators in the 3,230-foot control.

The major flooding is scheduled for 1958. The seaway's maze of locks, dams and canals not only will speed movement of materials, but will provide scenic attractions. More than 400,000 travelers viewed the seaway and power projects in 1956 — a figure expected to be topped before this season is over.

As the billion dollar boom nears completion, the big question is: "Will the Massena bubble burst?"

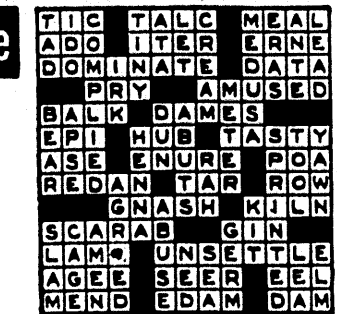

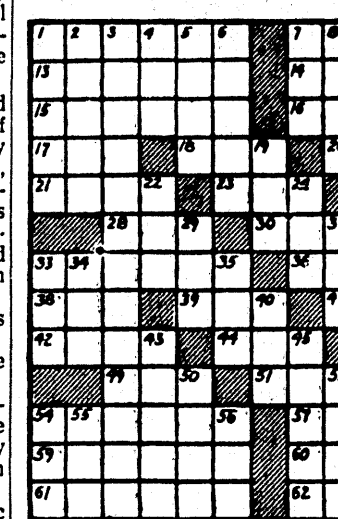

The fallout of the super-construction boom is immeasurable now, but residents foresee a rosy future, if not for themselves, then for their children.

The pulse-takers are optimistic that Massena and its neighbors will maintain a healthy economy
